Hoover And Economy Committee Outline Savings Plan

CONFERENCE IS HELD AT WHITE HOUSE

General Program for Saving $300,000,000 Taken Up With President
EARLY ACTION SEEN
Ten Percent Salary Cut is Discussed Also Plans For Week of Five Days

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(UP)—President Hoover called the members of the senate's new bipartisan economy committee to the White House today and at a breakfast conference outlined a general program for saving some $300,000,000 (m) in government costs during 1933.

The president and the secretary of treasury, Ogden L. Mills, went over economic measures—"along the lines which have been followed on the economy program in recent months in the house," as Mills expressed it.

Mills acted as spokesman for the group at conclusion of the conference. Chairman Jones of the senate economy committee and other members of the bi-partisan group returned to the capitol for another meeting of their committee today.

"We discussed economy along the lines of an omnibus program in an omnibus bill," Secretary Mills said. "The hope is for reduction in appropriations and for authority to make combinations in government posts to save something like $300,000,000 or more below the estimates set by the budget."

General Outline

"We did not go into any details, but stuck to the general outline of the plan—you can't settle very much in an hour at the beginning of such a move."

Mills, in response to questions, said that the discussion over the coffee cups had been along the

YOUTH CONVICTED FOR MURDER TRY

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—(UP)—The moving words of a famous novelist, given life by the voice of a deputy prosecutor in a real life "American Tragedy," brought the shadow of prison walls about Frank Newland today.

The youthful married golf caddy, convicted on charges of attempting to murder his pretty high school sweetheart, Lois Wade, because she was about to become a mother, faced a sentence of from one to 14 years on that charge, and a jail sentence for a statutory offense of which he likewise was found guilty.

The shadowy figures of Roberta Alden and Clyde Griffiths, fragments of the imagination of Theodore Dreiser in his epic novel, became the flesh and blood Lois Wade and Frank Newland in Los Angeles superior court.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(UP)—Senate and House leaders met today in a Senate cloakroom and agreed to expedite essential pending legislation in an effort to adjourn Congress June 10 without the necessity of returning after the Chicago convention. Speaker Garner and House Minority Leader Snell met with the Senate party leaders.

ANTI DRYS ARE NOMINATED BY G. O. P. IN OHIO

David Ingalls Wins in Governor Race and Bettman for Senate

CLEVELAND, May 11.—(UP)—Ohio today nominated two major officers who stand for prohibition repeal.

The Republican nomination for both governor and United States senator was won by an impressive vote in yesterday's primary upon candidates whose views had aroused the bitter hostility of the Anti-Saloon league and its allied forces.

David S. Ingalls, young, flying assistant secretary of the navy, triumphed in the gubernatorial contest over Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown and former Governor Myers Y. Cooper, both of whom were endorsed by prohibition societies. Ingalls' campaign headquarters claimed an ultimate plurality of 30,000 over Brown, his nearest opponent.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, who issued a more ringing appeal for prohibition reform, was carried to an even larger plurality in unofficial returns from nearly two-thirds of the state's precincts. He massed a plurality of 50,000 over Louis J. Taber, national master of the grange, who was supported by the combined dry forces of the state.

TARIFF BILL GETS PRESIDENTIAL VETO

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(UP)—President Hoover today sent to Congress his veto of the Democratic tariff bill which would have stripped the chief executive of his power to alter tariff schedules.

The measure, which drew President Hoover's first major veto of the session, would have had the tariff commission recommend directly to Congress any desired alterations in import duties.

In addition, the bill called for an international tariff conference for the consideration of lowered trade barriers. It provided for the creation of the office of "consumers' counsel," who would represent the public in tariff commission hearings.

GASTON MEANS GETS HIS BOND REDUCED

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(UP)—Gaston B. Means was successful today in obtaining a reduction in the $100,000 bond set when he was arrested on charges of embezzling $164,000 from Mrs. Edward B. McLean.

Justice James M. Proctor announced that a $50,000 bond would be sufficient. The move for the lowered bond was begun yesterday after two indictments had been returned against the former justice department investigator.

Negotiators Move Scene Of Activity

Believed John Curtis Trying to Make Contact With Kidnapers

NORFOLK, Va., May 11.—(UP)—Negotiations by John Hughes Curtis for return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby have been transferred from here to a point off Block Island, it was reported here today.

Block Island lies between Long Island and the New England coast line. Curtis, the reports said, has been in that area for the past four days during his absence from Norfolk. He is believed to be attempting to convince the purported kidnapers that no efforts are being made to trap them.

This move, it was explained, is necessary because naval ships operating near the area in which Curtis had been attempting to establish contact had frightened the kidnapers.

Curtis had not communicated with any of his friends here this morning. He went away with Lt. George L. Richards, U. S. N.

Message Read

NEW YORK, May 11.—(UP)—A message appeared today in the personal column of a morning news paper, which was believed to refer to the Lindbergh kidnaping. The message, which was unsigned and not addressed, consisted of three words, "Money is ready."

The "Jafsie" notices, inserted by Dr. J. F. Condon, which lead to payment of $50,000 to the supposed kidnapers, were inserted in the personal columns of the same newspaper.

PASTOR AND WIFE SOUGHT BY POLICE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 11.—(UP)—While Governor Rolph was considering a request for extradition of Albert Trippel, lawyer, Rialto, Ariz., on charges of kidnaping and contempt of court, a widespread search was on today for the Rev. C. T. Hare of Lodi, awarded custody of the two Trippel children.

The Rev. and Mrs. Hare were held in contempt of court by Superior Judge John F. Pullen yesterday for failing to produce the children of Mrs. Dorothy Trippel in court. They had been awarded custody of the children pending a habeas corpus action filed by their mother for their custody.

Clifford Russell, attorney for Mrs. Trippel sought a bench warrant after District Attorney Neil R. McAllister declined to issue a warrant against the Hares, charging them with kidnaping.

WATCH IS PLACED OVER FRANK EGAN

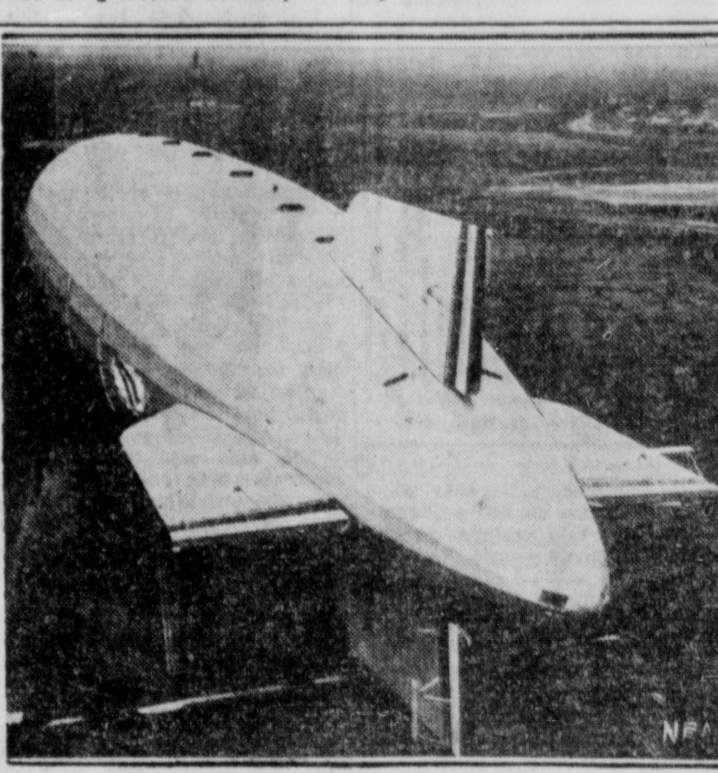

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—(UP)—A "suicide watch" was placed over Public Defender Frank J. Egan at a hospital today as police announced they were prepared to charge three unnamed persons with the murder of Jessie Scott Hughes, life-long friend of the official.

The watch was ordered for Egan, who is suffering a nervous breakdown after an unexplained four-day disappearance, when authorities for the first time issued statements indicating they were investigating the defender in connection with Mrs. Hughes' violent death.

Frank Tinnin, ex-convict, is held by police and Verne Doran, another ex-convict, is sought for questioning. Doran was identified as the driver of a car police claimed was in the vicinity of Mrs. Hughes' home the night she died.

Agreement Violated, Is Charge

Los Angeles Concern Claims Sale of Land in North Never Completed

ALLEGING BREACH of contract in connection with the proposed purchase of 24,200 acres of land in San Luis Obispo county, John C. King, of Orange was named defendant in a suit filed in superior court seeking damages amounting to $1,500,000. The action was filed by H. D. Winger, incorporated, of Los Angeles.

According to charges made by Winger, he and King signed an agreement whereby King would sell him the San Luis Obispo county lands for a total purchase price of $550,000. The property involved is known as El Chico Ranch.

The purchaser of the land was to receive an oil and gas lease where, by payment of one eighth royalty he had the right to drill wells at any point on the property.

Winger claims that he placed the deal in escrow in Los Angeles on March 21 last. Notices, he alleges have been sent to King on several occasions but King has refused to complete the deal.

Winger charges that King has refused to complete his contract because since signing the agreement to sell the property he has learned that the property is valuable as oil and worth $1,500,000.

COMMITTEE VOTES DOWN WORLD COURT

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(UP)—The Senate foreign relations committee today voted, 11 to 10, to reject the United States should join the World Court except with the acknowledgment of other court members that no court decision affecting the United States should be made without consent of this government.

The vote was on a resolution by Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire. Chairman Borah predicted that the committee would report the court project to the Senate tomorrow with a recommendation for favorable action.

But Borah said adoption of the Moses resolution was in effect an unfavorable report on the Root protocol which was the basis proposed by President Hoover for American adherence.

The bill would pay off in full the adjusted service certificates of veterans who agree to procure farms and live on them three years.

McLeod explained that the primary purpose of his bill was to free urban charities of part of their load, and send "back to the land" approximately 6,000,000 individuals—veterans and their families.

DR. CITRON CASE IS UNDER SUBMISSION

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—(UP)—The case of Dr. L. Jesse Citron, Hollywood physician, charged with violation of the narcotic act as a result of prescribing drugs for the late Alma Rubens, film star, was under submission of Federal Judge Wm. P. James today.

Judge James said the whole case hinged upon whether Dr. Citron prescribed narcotics for the benefit of Miss Rubens' health or for personal gain.

Dr. Citron testified that he had denied the actress narcotics in her delicate condition, her health would have suffered.

RECEIVERS PROBE WILL CLOSE TODAY

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—(UP)—Investigation by the county grand jury into conduct of state receiverships for American Mortgage Company properties was expected to terminate today.

"We have only five more witnesses to hear and expect them to be brief," Charles S. Hutson, foreman of the jury, declared. "We should finish hearing testimony by tonight."

Bishop Cannon Refuses To Predict Vote

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 11.—(UP)—Bishop James Cannon, jr., militant champion of prohibition, refused today to predict what would happen should a wet Democrat run for the presidency this year.

Speaking before the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, Cannon said that in 1924 he predicted a wet Democratic candidate would be defeated and that he had made the same prediction in 1928. "I will not make any predictions now," he said.

BRUENING SAYS NATION UNABLE TO PAY DEBTS

Tells Reichstag Germany Never Can Resume Paying Reparations

BERLIN, May 11.—(UP)—While some nations still adhere to a demand that Germany resume reparations, "it is inconceivable that Germany ever will be able to resume those payments," Chancellor Heinrich Brüning told the reichstag today.

The chancellor's speech was the most pointed pronouncement of Germany's policy of future non-payment of reparations ever delivered, although on several occasions in the recent past Brüning said plainly that Germany is unable to pay.

Addressing a tense and expectant reichstag, Brüning emphasized the "necessity for complete cancellation of political debts."

"The separation of nations into debtors and creditors must cease in order to effectuate international co-operation," he said. "Once this has been achieved, every country will be richer. I regret that this is not the opinion of all the governments concerned."

Brüning appealed to foreign governments "to end the madness of political debts before it is too late."

He caused a commotion when he hinted there had been secret conferences between followers of Adolf Hitler, the Fascist leader, and foreign politicians.

Deputies jumped to their feet, Hitlerites roaring and Catholics and Socialists shouting, "Hear, hear."

FILM ACTRESS IS SCORCHED ON LEGS

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—(UP)—Barbara Stanwyck, motion picture actress, was recovering today from a scorched leg as the result of a too-realistic fire scene on the Warner Brothers set.

The script called for Miss Stanwyck and George Brent to beat out flames in a burning wheat field with wet sacks.

She suffered slight burns when the fire got a little too hot, but was able to return to the studio several hours later.

RICHFIELD CASE TO BE FINISHED TODAY

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—(UP)—The fate of James A. Talbot, R. W. McKee and C. M. Fuller, former executives of the Richfield Oil company, on trial for conspiracy and grand theft in connection with the crash of their company in 1930, will be decided by Judge Leon Yankwich by next Monday, it was apparent today.

THIRD SAILOR IS RESCUED IN MID AIR

Carried 1000 Feet Aloft But Manages to Make Cradle for His Body

HALT LANDING PLANS

Navy Headquarters Orders Mooring Operations Be Ceased Until Sundown

BULLETIN

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 11.—(UP)—Two hours after two of his comrades had been dashed to death from mooring cables of the navy dirigible Akron at Camp Kearney, near here, Charles "Bud" Cowart, Sand Springs, Okla., a United States sailor was rescued from a dangling cable at an altitude of approximately 1,000 feet. He was hauled aboard through a hatchway.

While thousands of spectators looked on in terror, helpless to aid, two sailors were dashed to their deaths and a third was carried aloft as the giant navy dirigible Akron broke from its moorings during landing operations at Camp Kearney, 14 miles north of here.

The sailor victims, Bob Edsel and Michael Hinton, dropped from the cable of the Akron from an altitude of 200 feet and were instantly killed.

The third sailor, Charles Cowart, was jerked aloft by the huge ship and soon was hanging from the cable at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

He saved himself from similar death by looping a "bosun's chair" in the dangling cable, and was seated in it while efforts were again made to bring the huge dirigible to its stub mooring mast.

Three times previously sailors from the local naval district had seized the landing cables and attempted to walk the ship to the mast, and three times ground winds forced them to relinquish their holds.

On the fourth attempt, the dirigible was suddenly swept upward, and as the hundreds of sailors dropped the ropes, the watching thousands were horrified to see three sailors were still tightly grasping the ropes as it swept aloft.

The heavy cable snapped like a whip, and Edsel and Hinton were flung to the ground. Cowart had managed to wind his legs around the cable and he swung in the air like a fly on the end of a kite tail.

The navy headquarters immediately ordered all landing efforts suspended and concentrated on an effort to save Cowart's life.

The San Diego fire department was summoned and came to Camp Kearney with landing net and prepared to catch Cowart should he leap or fall from the cable.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 11. (To the Editor of The Register:) Poor Mr. Mellon is just finding out what an Ambassador business to England is. It's to introduce American mothers' daughters to the King and Queen. You ought to hear Charley Dawes tell about his experiences with those ferocious mothers. They try everything from bribery to blackmail and politics to poison. They drove poor Charley pretty near "nutty." I doubt if a charging elephant, or a rhino, is as determined, or hard to check as a socially ambitious mother. I see there is just as many this year. Even depression can't stop 'em. Don't you envy "Andy," "Charley"? Yours, WILL ROGERS.

TWO MEN HELD IN ROBBERY OF ORANGE STORE

Past work on the part of Chief of Police R. F. Richards, Orange, resulted in the arrest this morning of Neil Wright, 22, an Oklahoma Indian, and W. T. Holloway, 26, of 568 North Orange avenue, an hour and forty minutes after they are asserted to have robbed E. L. Watson at his grocery store at 144 South Glassell street, after threatening him with death.

According to Watson, the two men entered his store at 6 o'clock this morning, pulled guns, threatened to "drill him" and took $2 from a money bag, overlocking two $5 bills. The bandits tied Watson's hands and feet with shoe strings and left him in a rear room.

The grocer had "sprung" his hands while they were being tied and managed to free his hands sufficiently to reach his pocket-knife. After cutting the shoe strings the grocer called to Henry Schaffert, a real estate dealer, who notified the police.

Information of Neil Wright was provided by Mrs. Loretta Meadows, following a hunch by Chief Richards that Mrs. Meadows who formerly lived in Oklahoma, might know his whereabouts. The youth formerly roomed in her home.

Questioning of Wright revealed Holloway's address and he was taken into custody a short time later. The bandits suspecting to appear before Judge Swazey tomorrow. Both Watson and Schaffert identified the men as the bandits, Chief Richards declared.

SUPERVISORS TURN DOWN ZONING STUDY

Because of economic conditions the suggestion of the county planning commission that studies in connection with zoning the county be started, was turned down by the board of supervisors.

A letter signed by Mrs. Clara Cushman of the county planning group was read in which it was suggested that the preliminary study be started in conjunction with highway and traffic plans with a view to preparation of a tentative zoning ordinance for consideration. The letter pointed out that this preliminary study would require a year for preparation of the necessary maps and ordinance.

In turning down the proposal the board pointed out that while it approves zoning of the county, it will take on no new projects at this time because of the expense involved.

Police News

Ernest Gracian, Santa Ana man, was arrested last night on a drunk charge. Police records show that it is the twenty-second time in the past four years he has been arrested on drunk charges.

Frank Gaudin, 28, was arrested at 224 West Fifth street last night by Santa Ana police officers on a warrant from San Bernardino county. He was lodged in the county jail and San Bernardino county officers notified.

Robert Forrest, resident of the Palace Rooms, reported to the police last night that his watch and chain worth $40 was stolen from his room early last night.

Thieves stole a pocketbook containing $5 in cash and a check for $20 from the home of Mrs. M. Goetz at South Main street and the Delini road yesterday afternoon she reported. Later she found the check in the back yard. The purse and cash has not been recovered.

BACK TO FARM PLAN OUTLINED FOR VETERANS

The veteran, to benefit under the bill, would be required to have a farm of at least 20 acres. He could obtain it either through federal land banks, gifts, or direct purchase.

The Michigan Republican has prepared statistics which he claims show that for $371.40 a veteran could buy the land, equipment for tilling it, and the livestock needed to keep his family in food.

McLeod divided the $371.40 thus: one horse, $50; one milk cow, $55; one hog, $7; one sheep, $3.40; chickens to supply meat and eggs, $10; farm implements, $34; one used car, $40; cost of converting car into tractor, $32; land at $7 an acre, $140; total $371.40.

"My estimate of $7 an acre applies to North Carolina, where I understand the choicest land can be obtained for that price," McLeod said.

"I have found the governors of several states anxious to cooperate through their legislature in establishing land grants, which means the veterans in some instances could get land free."

"In addition, I am assured that various railroads would offer cheap rates to the veterans."

McLeod's bill also provides for free distribution of sufficient grain stabilization corporation wheat to the "farm minded" veterans to help provide food for their families and livestock for one year.

"I believe 75,000,000 bushels would be used," said McLeod.

POLICE RADIO PLAN REQUEST IS REJECTED

Supervisors yesterday declined to commit themselves to a plan for operation of a county-wide police radio system for which the various incorporated cities would bear the major portion of the expense.

The proposal was made to the board of supervisors by Chief of Police R. R. Hodgkinson of Newport Beach, president of the Orange County Police Officers' association and Chief of Police Floyd Howard of Santa Ana. They asked the supervisors to install the station at an estimated cost of approximately $16,000 and said that the cost could be pro-rated among the various communities using the service. The police officials pointed out the advantages to law enforcement agencies through operation of such a station.

The supervisors advised Hodgkinson and Howard to prepare a definite plan of installation and operation, take it before the various communities and after securing the reaction of the cities to return to the board and further negotiations would be considered.

It was estimated that the cost of installing the station could be divided between the 12 incorporated cities as would the cost of maintenance. To operate the station it would require four technicians to work in three shifts with a relief man.

Supervisor John Mitchell, chairman of the board said that he did not believe that the county should start the move in view of the present financial situation and advised delaying action for a time until conditions improve.

FORFEIT BAIL ORDER ARREST IN FRAUD CASE

Superior Judge James L. Allen ordered the $500 bail of Howard Mitchell forfeited yesterday and issued a bench warrant for his arrest upon request of Assistant District Attorney S. B. Kaufman.

Mitchell was under heavy bond here in connection with a grand theft charge in which he is alleged to have stolen $2000 from W. M. Smith of Smith and Tuttle in a questionable stock deal. It is claimed that other undertakers and doctors also were victimized by Mitchell.

Mitchell is alleged to have left Santa Ana after being released from custody under bond. A short time ago Otto Jacobs, his attorney received a telegram from a Dr. Sullivan informing him that Mitchell could not appear here for trial at this time as he had entered the Wesley hospital at Oklahoma City for a serious major operation.

Assistant District Attorney Kaufman wired for information about Mitchell's operation to officers of the Wesley hospital and yesterday received a telegram in which directors of that institution declared that they had no record of Mitchell ever having entered that institution.

According to charges against Mitchell he came here some time ago and established himself as a stock salesman for the Pacific Royalties corporation. He is said to have specialized in doctors and undertakers in the county and sold them considerable stock which has since been declared worthless.

SEEBER SENTENCED TO YEAR IN JAIL

W. L. Seeber, Santa Ana, found guilty by a jury in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday afternoon on a charge of non support of three children, was today sentenced to the Orange county jail for a period of one year with a recommendation that he be put to work on the county chain gang, and the money earned turned over to the family.

Further provision was made that Seeber could be released from jail provided he made sufficient bond for a year to guarantee the children $30 per month.

FILIPINOS NOT IMPORTED SAYS LABOR "BOSS"

Denial that Filipinos have been imported into Orange county recently for work in orange orchards or on ranches was made today by Isadore M. Alcantara, who claims to be a labor foreman located in this city since 1926. Alcantara said that he employs 12 men and gave the names of two other Filipino labor foremen living in Santa Ana, who, according to Alcantara, employ 30 additional Filipinos.

Alcantara said that these foremen, Chris Tobias and Fernandez, have been residents of this city for four and three years respectively. A search of the county directory, however, failed to reveal the names of either Fernandez or Alcantara.

Alcantara declares that the Filipinos employed by himself and associates have been residents of the county for many years and have never taken work from anyone. Employment of these nationals has been upon solicitation by the employers of labor in the county Alcantara claims.

Filipino contractors, Alcantara said, have given local Mexicans many opportunities to work thinning beats but found them unsatisfactory because they quit before the job was finished and made it necessary to employ Filipinos to complete the contract. The growers, he said, have insisted on employment of Filipinos.

He denied that Filipinos are willing to cut wages to get work, although that charge has never been made, and also denied that they are a source of trouble because of liquor and gambling.

WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 11.—(UP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York annexed West Virginia's 16 presidential nominating votes today on the basis of partial returns from Tuesday's presidential primary.

Returns from 255 scattered precincts of the state's total 2234 early today gave the New York governor 18,106 as against 1872 for Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma.

The slate of Roosevelt delegates who, however, are not bound to the candidate, was headed by U. S. Senator M. M. Neely of Fairmont and Col. J. R. Long of Huntington.

President Hoover was assured of the state's 19 nominating votes when delegates, favoring his candidacy, received the entire Republican vote. The president himself was not entered in the primary which had no Hoover opposition.

TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas, May 11.—(UP)—John H. Garner was certain today of Texas' support for the Democratic nomination for president, after county organizations all over the state endorsed him as a candidate.

Only one county even expressed a second choice. That one endorsed Garner, with Franklin D. Roosevelt as its next selection. With these endorsements there was no doubt the Texas delegation would be instructed to cast its 46 votes for Garner at the national convention.

In practically every instance the Texas county organizations went on record for some change in the liquor laws. Garner's campaign managers sought to keep this question out of the county meetings, but they were overridden.

BENEFIT PLANNED

WESTMINSTER, May 11.—An ice cream festival is being given Thursday evening at the Presbyterian church hall, sponsored by the Young Laktron's club of the church. A program has been prepared by children of the community, the program committee having been working on this entertainment for several weeks.

Tables where the refreshments will be served are to represent the months of the year. The fund raised from the benefit will go toward church work.

Boy Knocked From Wheel Is Injured

Leonard Ruiz, of 407 East First street, was cut and bruised yesterday when he was knocked from the bicycle he was riding by a car reported driven by Emil Harms of Orange at First and Spurgeon streets.

Report of the accident was made to the city police. The Ruiz child was not believed to have been badly hurt.

HOOVER MEETS ECONOMY BODY AT BREAKFAST

"general lines of the house economy bill." Further than that, however, he said he did not care to go.

In response to questions as to whether the three Democratic members of the committee would support the president, Mills responded: "I think we may say to that that it was a very harmonious meeting."

Asked whether there would be speedy action in the senate on economy, Mills, in a serious demeanor, said, "I hope so."

Budget Director Rood also attended the breakfast conference. Mills said Rood would "stand by" to give the Senate economy committee any details on budget matters they desired.

Walter Newton, the president's political secretary, also was present. He said that "in a general way the economy omnibus bill stands before the Senate much in the position that it did originally before the House economy committee."

Administration spokesmen were more hopeful, however, that the bi-partisan Senate group would be able to draft a new economy omnibus bill which would make up the savings desired by the president but eliminated in the House. Meanwhile the Senate's original plan for 10 per cent general reduction in all appropriations was being held up pending action on the omnibus economy measure.

Mills also said that president's conference had discussed his proposal for a five-day week and payless furloughs for government workers.

"We went into all of those things," Mills said, "in a general way."

The senators went directly from the White House to the capitol and met in the appropriations committee room with members of the house, including Representatives Douglas, Democrat, Arizona; Cochran, Democrat, Missouri; McDuffie, Democrat, Mississippi; and Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa.

Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, expressed confidence before the committee met that it would adopt his 10 per cent reduction policy with respect to federal appropriations. He estimated that would save from $250,000,000 to $280,000,000.

TWO KILLED IN ATTEMPTING TO LAND DIRIGIBLE

The navy announced that the heat of the sun apparently was responsible for the difficulty in landing the Akron and for the deaths of the two sailors.

It was explained that the heat caused the helium gas to expand rapidly.

Orders were issued to cease landing operations until after sundown, 10,000 at field.

It was estimated that approximately 10,000 persons were gathered around Camp Kearney when the Akron first appeared. After the landing trouble and the final dramatic break from the moorings, the crowd swelled to about 30,000. United States Marines were assigned to police duty.

Edsel and Hinton were hanging to the mooring rope and were plunged to their deaths when the strand broke at about 200 feet altitude. Had it not been for this, witnesses said, the two sailors might have been able to secure themselves as did Cowart.

It was reported that officers of the Akron were considering a flight to sea to save Cowart.

The plan if carried through called for the Akron to fly low over the Pacific. Cowart would then drop into the water where boat's would be stationed to pick him up.

The withdrawal of Shanghai forces will save the government 4,000,000 yen a year and will eliminate suspicions that Japan sought special privilage at Shanghai, the spokesman said.

Judge Takes Case Under Advisement

Waiving a trial by jury as formerly requested Gay Marlett went on trial yesterday before Superior Judge James L. Allen on a statutory charge involving a 10-year-old Fullerton girl. Both prosecution and defense rested late yesterday afternoon and Judge Allen announced that he would take the case under advisement until Monday morning.

Several children including the complaining witness were called to testify by the prosecution. Marlett was the first defense witness and denied the charge. A large list of character witnesses, railroad men for the most part, were called in his behalf and testified to his excellent reputation with the Santa Fe railroad where he had been employed for some time.

PLEADS GUILTY TO POSSESSION OF WHISKEY

A pretty little woman, dressed in a neat black hat and a white fur collar walked into Justice Kenneth Morrison's court shortly before noon today, interrupted a murder case proceeding and pleaded guilty to possession of liquor, in order to free from the county jail her sweetheart.

After being questioned, the woman, who said her true name was Gladys Mansfield, was sentenced to serve 150 days in the county jail, with an alternate of paying a fine of $300.

The woman is the sweetheart of Frank Ball, Orange man, arrested by sheriff's officers in Santa Ana several days ago after officers are alleged to have found five gallons of liquor in his apartment. He was lodged in jail and charged with possession of liquor.

"I believe this woman is taking the rap for someone else, other than Ball," Attorney D. G. Wettlin, who represented her in court, told Justice Morrison. "She has come in here because she didn't want him to suffer for a crime she knows he did not commit," he said.

Mrs. Mansfield said that the liquor was given to her when asked where she got it, by the court. She said she was divorced from her husband the past four years and that she had been living in Santa Ana for the past nine months.

Immediately after sentence was passed on the woman, on motion of Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe moved that the case of Ball be dismissed, which was granted. Ball was released from jail at noon and the girl took his place.

Install P.-T. A. Officers May 20

LAGUNA BEACH, May 11.—The regular P.-T. A. meeting scheduled for May 13 has been postponed to May 20, at which time the newly elected officers will be installed by Mrs. J. B. Handy, Mrs. A. B. Coff was re-elected president and Mrs. B. Clyde Mackey, first vice-president. The other officers are George K. Bingham, second vice president; Mrs. Harry Nolan, secretary; Arthur Watkins, treasurer.

There will be a musical tea at the Josephine Hills studio May 18, at which Mrs. Clara Warman will be hostess. On May 13 a benefit concert will be given for the student aid fund by Leon Burford and Mrs. Angelo Zava.

S. A. and Fullerton J. C. Clubs Combine To Honor Goethe

Preparations were under way today at the Santa Ana and Fullerton Junior colleges for a combined German club program, designed to pay tribute to Johann Wolfgang Goethe, famous German author.

Under the direction of Miss Lella B. Watson, head of the Santa Ana foreign language department, the college organization will present several scenes from "Faust," Goethe's famous play, and many of his poems will be read by the German students. Miss Jane Cunningham, Sid Magnusson and Everett Stovall already have been assigned reading parts. Miss Carolyn Mueller, Miss Eugenia Bode, Harold Dittmer and Ferris Edgar have parts in the play scenes.

All Goethe admirers in Orange county will be invited to the celebration, tentatively arranged for the Orange High school auditorium during the latter part of this month. There will be no admission charge.

Fullerton will prepare several musical numbers and a life history of the famous German.

Harold Dittmer, Santa Ana club president, yesterday appointed the following committees to work with him: Scenery, Creston Harnois, Morikazu Tan, Miss Elizabeth Skiles and Miss Klaron Nahl; costumes, Miss Eugenia Bode, Miss Fountelle Rentscher and Miss Carolyn Mueller; printing, Miss Beryl Willits; general arrangements, Miss Edna Bargsten and Paul Wright.

FLYING JOURNALISTS

LONDON.—A new flying club recently formed at Brooklands is composed of newspapermen. The membership is limited to journalists, and flying instructions will be offered to members at low rates. With the addition of this club, there are now 38 registered flying clubs in England.

Gen. Henry H. Whitney, president of the club and noted as a toastmaster, was in rare form, spicing the program with sparkling wit, aided by an unusual vocabulary of fund of knowledge.

Stephen Chalmers read an original poem, "The Vagabonds," which was adopted by the Vagabonds. Frank W. Cuprien, beloved Laguna Beach painter, entertained with original piano compositions.

Jean Abrams, young Laguna Beach poet, was introduced as one who had inspired S. S. McClure to declare she was the most promising young versifier in America.

HARRY TAYLOR FREED ON HAY THEFT CHARGES

Harry F. Taylor, charged with grand theft of 240 bales of hay from the Bixby ranch several months ago, walked out of Justice Kenneth Morrison's court shortly before noon today, a free man, the court having held that the evidence against him was not sufficient to hold him to answer to the superior court.

Taylor was represented in court by Attorney D. G. Wettlin.

Immediately he was re-arrested by Herman Zabel, of the sheriff's office for Los Angeles county, on another grand theft charge.

The sheriff's office contended that Taylor in partnership with his son, A. J. Taylor, contrived to fleece several ranchers in Southern California. The man went to ranches, they said, bought hay and later sent the son there to pay for it with fictitious checks. It was on another transaction of this sort that he was arrested for Los Angeles county, Zabel reported.

A. J. Taylor is still being held in jail here on the check charge in connection with the asserted Bixby transaction.

ORANGE SHIPMENT PLAN TO BE TOLD

Farm Bureau officials announced today that the orange shipment rating program, planned as the salvation of the industry, will be explained tomorrow for the first time over radio KREG.

John Crill, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, will speak at 12 o'clock, noon, tomorrow and explain, in detail, the plan worked out at a series of meetings held here some weeks ago at which growers representing 90 per cent of the Valencia crop in the state were represented.

The program has been given the approval of directors of the Mutual Orange Distributors and the California Citrus Exchange and is being returned through affiliated shipper organizations for ratification. Crill said that morning that, to date, the plan has not met with criticism from either the grower or shipper.

S. A. TEAM TO GIVE WORK AT STATE MEETING

Santa Ana Odd Fellows lodge, No. 236, second degree team, renowned as one of the finest in the entire United States, has been signally honored by having been chosen by Charles Duck, grand master of the state lodge, to confer the second degree on a large class of candidates from all over California at the annual grand lodge session in progress in Riverside, it was learned today.

The local staff will confer the degree at a special session to be held in the Riverside Municipal auditorium tomorrow night where the annual convention is in progress.

Attired in special colorful uniform, the local staff will present a drill following the degree work. The local staff has been active for the past three years and has built up a nation-wide reputation.

Hundreds of Odd Fellows from Orange county are planning to attend or have attended sessions of the convention which started Monday and which will continue until Friday. There are more than 75 members of the Santa Ana lodge attending sessions, it was stated.

Many members of the local Rebekah lodge are attending sessions of the Rebekah assembly which is also in progress in Riverside this week.

A. B. Culver, noble grand of the local lodge, heads the list of delegates from Santa Ana to the convention. Besides Charles Duck, state grand master, all other officers of the grand lodge are in attendance at the convention.

F. E. Dearth is captain of the Santa Ana degree team. Other members are A. H. Marcher, J. Dyan, A. H. Culver, N. T. Nelson, Jack Crawford, H. P. Vandewalker, A. H. Taylor, E. L. House, John Thiessenhausen, Joe Prevost, R. S. Paul, C. B. Kellogg, James Henry, A. L. Watson, H. H. Ahrens, William Kuebler, C. W. Chamberlain, H. E. Grant, R. O. Francis, Milton Arnold, George Stovall, H. H. Allen, J. R. Fowler, J. W. Crawford and George E. Peters.

S. A. WALNUT GROWERS HOLD ANNUAL MEET

No changes were made in either officers or directors of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the local packing house on East Fourth street. However, a meeting of the board of directors will be held Monday night at 7:30 o'clock to reorganize.

Present officers are Charles Heinrichs, president; L. E. Smith, vice president, and Charles Van Wyck, B. J. McReynolds and C. L. Hallet, directors.

A. W. Christie, field manager for the California Walnut Growers' association, was the featured speaker at the meeting yesterday.

He called attention to the unusually poor crop of walnuts last season, but predicted that the crop for next year would be good and would compare favorably with the 1929 crop, said to have been exceptionally good. Walnut prices have not gone down much in comparison with other commodities, he stated. He also said there would be no carryover of the crop this year into next season, but that there is still a large quantity of meats on the market. He stressed the importance of cooperative buying and marketing.

Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg spoke briefly, asking for better cooperation from local walnut growers in compiling cost of production studies. He pointed out that some growers are able to grow walnuts at the rate of five cents a pound, while it costs other growers sixteen cents a pound.

W. H. Wright, deputy agricultural commissioner, in a brief talk, stressed the importance of beginning to spray trees now for adequate pest control. The annual financial report was read and discussed.

Court Notes

Attorneys for P. O. Nollenberger, Edward G. Knapp and Ralph Guyer, against whom a jury returned a verdict giving judgment for $2275 to George Wilson as a result of an automobile accident filed a motion yesterday for a new trial. The request for a new trial alleged 14 causes for the request among which were included that the jury awarded excessive damages while under influence of a passion of prejudice.

Smart and Final Investment company has on file a suit against Susan H. Maynard and others to quiet title to a strip of land along the Santa Fe railroad right-of-way on East First street.

P.-T. A. ASKS SUPPORT OF ADULT WORK

On behalf of the Fourth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. N. Beisel presented a petition signed by Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, district president, and Mrs. Blanche Preble, corresponding secretary, to the board of education last night.

This petition urges continuance of the adult education department of the city school system and was:

"Whereas, the California Congress of Parents and Teachers at its board of managers meeting in Fresno, April 24, reaffirmed its belief in the necessity of maintaining the department of adult education in our public schools system, with its present efficient program of work, as the most valuable adjunct to the public schools in providing an intelligent and co-operating parent-power; and

"Whereas, by unanimous action of the state board of managers each district and local unit of the California Congress was requested to take definite and immediate action after a thorough and careful discussion of the matter, and to present the result of its findings to local boards of education; and

"Whereas, the Fourth District (Orange County) of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers finds that the department of adult education now functioning throughout our county, has progressed in such an efficient manner from its inception four years ago to its present state in which it has brought over $45,000 into school funds from bonuses and A. D. A. with a total expenditure of only $24,000 in operating expense; and

"Whereas, if the department be practically abolished as seems imminent, and if in future times it be re-established, all the ground-work will have been lost and the educational rating with the state as well; therefore, be it

"Resolved: That the Fourth District Congress of Parents and Teachers, representing 57 units with a membership of 5000 throughout the county, does hereby respectfully request that boards of education, contacted by the present department of adult education, carefully consider all other possibilities of retrenchment before cutting the budget of the adult education department and thereby destroying its vast potential value for the future."

Catch First Deep Sea Bass At H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 11.—James Deen of Long Beach caught the first big jewfish, or deep sea bass, off the Morrison barge this season. Deen brought in a 300-pounder after battling him for over an hour. The barge is anchored off the end of the municipal pier here, about three miles out at sea. Fishing has been good here for the past several days, with barracuda and yellowtail the chief prizes. A number of small deep sea bass have been caught too.

Today and Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMAN

The French Elections

NEW YORK—An interpretation of the French elections must at this distance be largely guess work. What appears to have happened is that the combination of factions which have been governing France are defeated while no new combination is clearly in sight. There is some reason to think that France emerges from her elections without having spoken decisively enough to insure herself a strong and stable government.

The names of the French parties are very confusing to any foreigner, and for purposes of general discussion it is better to ignore them. Otherwise it is necessary to remind ourselves constantly that Mr. Herriot's party, now the largest in the chamber, which calls itself Radical Socialists, is in the American sense neither radical nor Socialist, that M. Blum's party, the United Socialists, represents a doctrine somewhere between the British Labor party's and, let us say, Senator La Follette's, and that Mr. Tardieu's party, the Left Republicans, are in fact highly conservative; that they sit in the center. For a broad understanding of the position it is simpler to reduce the matter to personalities to speak of the followers of Tardieu, Herriot and Blum.

The Chamber which has just been elected is the fourth since the war. The first, which sat from 1919 to 1924, was dominated by those who have recently been supporting M. Tardieu, that is to say, by the Conservatives. The second Chamber sat from 1924 to 1928. It had a majority composed of those who now follow M. Herriot and M. Blum. But owing to the inability of these two groups to co-operate and deal with the financial crisis, it was the Conservatives, led by M. Poincare, who actually governed most of the time. The third Chamber sat from 1928 to 1932. This is the Chamber which will disappear on June 1. It was dominated by a small majority of the Conservatives. The fourth Chamber, which has just been elected, is not unlike the second, which sat from 1924 to 1928. There is, theoretically, a fairly good majority composed of the followers of M. Herriot and M. Blum.

But neither of these men has anything like a majority of his own. Now in the 1924-1928 Chamber, M. Blum's "Socialists" supported M. Herriot's government, but refused to participate in it. As a result that government could not govern. During the recent campaign M. Herriot declared that he would not again make such an arrangement. He declared also that he would not make a combination with M. Tardieu. Therefore, as matters stand, the formation of a government would appear to depend upon some sort of arrangement between two out of three principal factions.

More specifically, it would seem that the matter must be decided in one or two ways: Either M. Blum must agree to join, not merely to support a Herriot ministry, or M. Herriot must agree to support, though he does not join, a Tardieu ministry. It should be added that a Tardieu ministry need not necessarily include M. Tardieu; I use his name to denote the Conservative groups. The net conclusion one arrives at now and at this distance is that the composition of the next French government, or perhaps one should say governments, is uncertain and dependent upon complicated maneuver and negotiation.

But this much it is fairly safe to predict. However the next cabinet is made up, its fate and that of its successors will depend much less upon foreign than upon domestic issues. For France is now entering that phase of the crisis when governmental deficits, taxes, retrenchments, bad business and unemployment are of pressing concern. The period which reached its climax last summer when France seemed immune in the midst of the world crisis, when her political and financial power were irresistible, is over. The French people realize it. They know that the ordeal through which we are passing, through which Britain passed last summer, is now beginning for them.

Their problem, as posed by the outcome of the elections, would appear to be very much like the problem in Washington today: How to form a governing power out of discordant factions and how to obtain concerted, decisive national action which can deal with the financial and economic crisis.

In attempting to forecast the prospects of an international understanding this summer, it is necessary to face the fact that among the five principal western powers only two have governments which are free to take decisive action. They are the British and the Italian. In the other three nations, in Germany, France and the United States, there is at present no governing power which is not the prisoner of its own opposition. In this fundamental respect the positions of Dr. Bruening, M. Herriot and Mr. Hoover are alike. All three are likely to be in office this summer, but none of them has much power.

It takes a strong government to be moderate and positive. A weak government is compelled to be ir-reconcilable and to temporize. Therefore, while hoping for the best, and striving for it, it is the part of prudence to look for no decisive and invigorating conclusions this summer in the realm of debts, reparations and armaments. There is no use becoming depressed and disappointed over an outcome which is now so probable.

Then, if by some turn of fortune, or by the display of some kind of inspired leadership working with an awakened public opinion, the nations should at Lausanne and Geneva really make progress, it will be no so much to the good. But no one should count on it. The task before us is to do the things we can and must do to set our own affairs in order, to reconstruct our public finances, to continue the readjustment of costs in industry, to provide relief for the unemployed, and to proceed resolutely with the measures now under way to counteract the deflation of credit.

These things have to be done regardless of the prospect in international relations. They will contribute to the solution of the crisis in America whatever is done at Lausanne and Geneva. They would have to be carried through even if the prospects at Lausanne and Geneva were brilliant.

But they would be much easier measures to bear and the results would be more quickly favorable if the western nations, our own most of all, were sufficiently coherent and bold to move decisively for an international settlement.

PRICE APPOINTED CLERK IN ANAHEIM

Abolition of the office of city manager held by John W. Price and appointment of Price to the combined offices of city clerk, city accountant, street superintendent and city purchasing agent at a salary saving of $490 per month featured a meeting of the Anaheim city council last night.

The change was precipitated by the unexpected resignation of City Clerk Edward R. Merritt, 32, immediately after his re-election to serve his seventeenth consecutive term.

As a result of the change, A. G. Tuma, city accountant, will be dismissed, it was reported.

Other unnamed economy measures contemplated by council will mean a monthly saving of from $100 to $125 per month in the city hall and an unnamed amount in city employment outside the city hall, according to Mayor Fred Koessel.

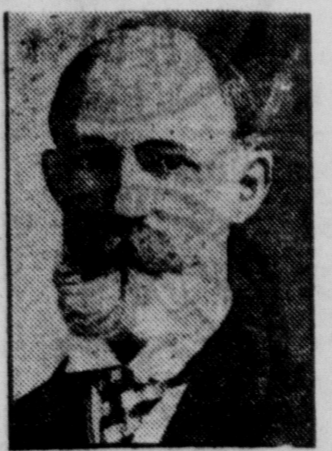

Court Notes

Suit for foreclosure of a mortgage on Fullerton property was filed yesterday by Mabel V. Neill against J. E. Seale, Rose Marie Seale, his wife, and Friend E. Walker. The mortgage was given to secure a promissory note for $4000. The property later was sold to Walker.

Jewell Marie Miller on Monday filed suit for divorce from her husband, Myron Miller, charging him with desertion and failure to provide. She is also seeking custody for two minor children. According to the complaint the couple married March 5, 1921, in Pensacola, Fla., and separated December 18, 1928, in the same city.

Five men, charged with being drunk, were given fines or suspended sentences or both in the city court yesterday. They were: Donald Reynolds, 30 days suspended; John Sheppard, 10 days suspended and $15 fine; Arthur Tensendorf, 30 days suspended and $20 fine; F. Kelly, 30 days suspended; and Weson Truss, 30 days suspended and $20 fine. The suspended sentences were given on condition the men stay sober for a period of six months.

The case of Chris Gallardo, charged with petty theft, was set

DR. CAMPBELL DEAN TIEGE IN P.-T. A. TALKS

For the annual meeting of the City Council P.-T. A. held last night in Julia Lathrop cafeteria, members of the council were privileged to hear two speakers of unusual interest, Dean Ernest Tiege and Dr. William G. Campbell, of the University of Southern California.

The discipline test presented by Dean Tiege was followed with close interest by the large crowd assembled for the event, who agreed with him that it proved the prevailing interest in any procedure that aids in the appreciation and understanding of children and their problems.

"Preventing Dishonesty," the theme developed by Dr. Campbell, who is head of the school of education at the university, gave rise among other things, to many interesting examples of what dishonesty means to different individuals and in different communities. The speaker cited the ill results that follow unwise cautioning of children against wrongdoing.

"Don't tempt the children; don't put a price upon dishonesty," he advised. "Administer discipline when promised; discuss problems with the individual child, let it understand what you are attempting to do, and above all else, don't set a wrong example." These were among the disciplinary factors not rightfully considered by parents and teachers, he explained. Additional program features were songs, "The Green Cathedral" and an encore number by the Mothersingers, and the election and installation of new officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Roy Beall was returned to the presidency for the second term, while those installed with her were Mrs. Roy Gowdy and Mrs. B. B. Walbridge, first and second vice presidents; Mrs. George Ames, recording secretary; Mrs. L. V. MacFarlane, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. G. Ferrin, financial secretary; Mrs. S. W. Nau, treasurer; Mrs. Hugh Neighbor, parliamentarian; Mrs. S. L. Preble, historian.

The nominating committee was composed of Mesdames S. I. Preble, F. Heine, Frances Hunt Beeson, Guy Belcher and George Ames. Mrs. J. Edmund Snow was installing officer, and was presented with a basket of flowers with a similar gift for Mrs. Beall, president.

S. A. YOUTH TAKES PART IN CONVENTION

OVERLIN, Ohio, May 11.—Franklin Burke, of Panorama Heights, Santa Ana, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burke, is one of the students taking part in the Democratic mock convention to be held at Oberlin college May 13 and 14. Burke, a freshman in Oberlin this year, is a member of the California delegation.

The Oberlin mock convention, the seventeenth to be held since the tradition was inaugurated in 1864, is Democratic this year for the first time. Beginning with Abraham Lincoln, past conventions have nine times nominated the man selected afterwards by the national Republican party.

Campus favorites among the candidates so far appear to be Smith, Roosevelt and Baker, with a select Ritchie group, a stubborn Garner bloc and colorful Murray support. Traylor of Illinois may swing several mid-west states.

Brockenridge Long of Washington, internationally known lawyer and diplomat, will act as temporary chairman of the convention the night of May 13.

In police court yesterday for tomorrow morning at 10 a. m.

Juan Reya, Santa Ana man, charged with possession of liquor was fined $300 in the city police court yesterday. In lieu of the fine he was lodged in the county jail to serve one day for each $2.

Lonnie Harrison, charged with running through a stop signal, was fined $2 in police court yesterday.

QUOTATIONS ON LIQUOR READ AT W. C. T. U. MEET

ORANGE, May 11.—Members of the Orange W. C. T. U. met yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Minnie Noll, president, was in charge of the meeting. Names of delegates from the 11th congressional district to the national convention were read, so that members might write letters urging the delegates to work against a wet plank in the party platform, and re-submission. Those named include Mrs. Sue Shafer of Costa Mesa, and H. H. Cotton of San Clemente, Democrats, and W. B. Williams, 1502 North Main street, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Anna B. Garner, San Bernardino, Republicans.

During roll call, members responded with temperance items from various papers. They included "One pint of beer taken by a motor driver causes a reduction of skill which may persist for three hours," by Dr. M. H. Vernon, industrial research board, Belfast, Ireland. Another member read, "Dr. K. A. Evans, former health commissioner of Chicago, and health editor of the Chicago Tribune, says most physicians agree that a man is drunk shortly after taking his first drink. In this, Dr. James Ritchie of Edinburgh, Scotland, agrees, saying, 'Even in small quantities alcohol perverts judgment and weakens self-control.'"

Members were told that Helen Willis Moody, America's woman tennis champion, said in the Saturday Evening Post, April 4, 1931, "One glass of beer suffices to induce sleep on the tennis court. If the player does not wake up for a stroke or two, he finds that his eye is just enough wobbly so that he does not hit his strokes clearly. The precision that tennis demands makes necessary total abstinence even from beer. The person who says that one cocktail or one glass of beer does not make any difference in one's eye co-ordination and balance is wrong, at least from a tennis point of view."

Judges Threatened Continuing the women read, "Every time I arrest a man who is running a blind pig I find, when I get to court, that a representative of the brewery has been there before me. He threatens whatever judge is sitting there with political death if he doesn't 'listen to reason.'"—Detective Flynn of the Chicago police force. Another quotation was, "Notwithstanding that the consumers of liquor paid out nearly $2,500,000,000 a year for a commodity which was not only valueless, but was positively injurious to them, according to the census of 1919 there were only 62,920 men employed in the manufacture of liquors of all kinds."

Also quoted was, "One of the puzzles which the wets do not discuss is the fact that while anti prohibitionists harp upon the alleged over-supply of liquor in this country, they are demanding that the government shall open up the distilleries and breweries."

If everybody, even children, is getting all the good liquor he craves, why should the wets worry?"

Wets' Delusion

Continuing, it was read, "Political propaganda by societies for prohibition reform claiming that the present drinking and crime in the country are due to prohibition, and would cease with the repeal of the 18th amendment, is a curious example of the delusions born where the wish is father to the thought. The wets do not seem to realize that the crimes and drinking are due largely to their own disregard of the law and their purchasing of liquor from bootleggers. As President Hoover has pointed out, if these very people ceased to patronize the bootleggers, the whole problem would be solved."

Thomas Jefferson was quoted in his statement that "The habit of using ardent spirits by men in office has occasioned more injury to the public and more trouble to me than all other sources. And were I to commence my administration again the first question I would ask respecting a candidate for office would be, 'Does he use ardent spirits?'"

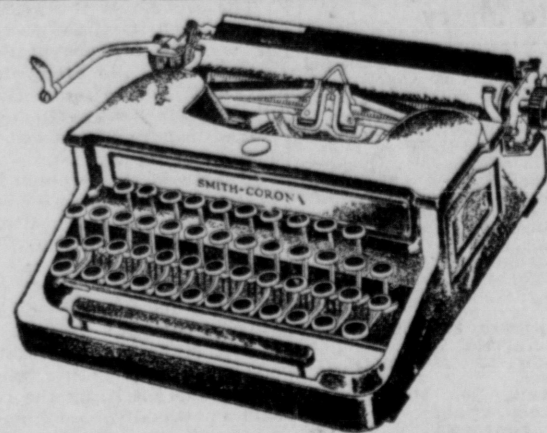

Other quotations read included: "The total cost of the enforcement of the prohibition law from 1920 to 1931 was $283,156,524; collections from fines and penalties, and revenues from taxes on lawfully distilled and fermented liquors were $548,588,884. The net balance in favor of the government is $265,432,360."

Captain Cato, of the California highway patrol, has issued a statement to the effect that it was not only the man who was drunk that was dangerous to the highway, but the fellow who had taken only a few drinks, it was brought out at the meeting.

"For a decade before national prohibition, the liquor industry was characterized by economists as a parasitic industry because it lived and thrived at the expense of legitimate industries," also was quoted.

In the absence of Mrs. F. B. Scharr, the song service was led by Miss Elsie Parsons, with Mrs. Ida Putnam accompanying at the piano. Mrs. Clara Sumner led devotional on "Stewardship."

Mrs. Myers gave prayer.

Board Sets Aside $750 For Playgrounds

ASKS SUM BE MATCHED FROM OTHER SOURCE

As a preliminary to asking city cooperation in the operation of summer playgrounds on a greatly reduced schedule this year, the Santa Ana board of education last night appropriated $750 for the program. This appropriation, however, is conditional, and depends upon $750 additional being provided from some other source.

In making the conditional appropriation it was announced that a delegation from the school board will appear before the city council next Monday and ask that body to match the sum. If this effort to secure city cooperation fails, other civic bodies will be asked to cooperate, leaders say.

Four Centes
If the additional $750 is forthcoming, with the board's appropriation, there will be $1500 available for the program. This amount, according to a report submitted by J. W. Archer, assistant director of physical education, will provide an eight weeks program with four playgrounds in operation and two leaders on each playground, one a trained leader, and the other an assistant from the junior college.

When the matter of the playground program came up for discussion, George Wells, chairman of the board said that he thought the summer playgrounds are important but that under present economic conditions he believed that parents should supervise their own children this summer, giving the board an opportunity to solve its financial difficulties. He said that this cooperation on the part of parents is particularly important this year in view of the fact that many teachers have been released because of budget deficiencies.

Urges Support
Mrs. Nell Beisel, representing the P.-T. A. organizations of the city, declared that carrying on of the playground program is more important this year than ever before because of the economic situation. She pointed out that in many cases both parents have been forced to seek employment to provide for the family. This, she pointed out, leaves the children without supervision and unless some program is adopted to keep them off the streets, juvenile delinquency will increase alarmingly.

Dr. Margaret Baker introduced a motion to appropriate $1000 for the playground program which received no second. W. M. Burke said that he hesitated to second a motion calling for that amount as he felt certain that it would not be matched. M. B. Youel, voiced a similar doubt and seconded Burke's motion appropriating $750 on condition that a like amount came from some other source.

BOARD TAKES FINAL ACTION ON TEACHERS

Election of 14 teachers, acceptance of the resignation of two others and the release of eight probationary teachers by the board of education last night, completed action on the staff of the various schools for next year.

The resignations of Mrs. Christine Rodgers, of the Lowell school, and Mrs. Louise B. Stearns, primary teacher at Delhi, were accepted. Clyde Patton, of the high school physical education department was re-elected over the opposition of W. M. Burke who pointed out that he opposed Patton's re-election on the grounds that he had agreed to waive his rights to tenure when he signed his contract last year.

After an executive session, opposed by Burke, release of the following primary teachers was announced: Mrs. Agnes Kemper, Miss Annette Ramsey, Mrs. Francis Cain, Mrs. Isabel Getty, Miss Isabel Irvin, Mrs. Dudley Harper, Mrs. Winifred Patton, and Miss Elizabeth Hoy.

Teachers elected for the elementary schools completing the faculty for next year were: Marian Bruner, Eleanor Guyer, Louisa Hampton, Lucille Harrison, Dorothy Jesse, Florence Lazare, Justina Palmer, Lucy Paul, Grace Prichard, Clara Spelman, Lois Sturgeon, Louise Van Dien, Mrs. Gertrude Winchester.

ABANDON PLAN TO ELIMINATE ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM, BUT CUT BUDGET TO $7000

Verbal protests from a group of men and women, members, principally of the parental training and lip reading classes, petitions from the Fourth District California Congress of P.-T. A., and from Mexican women who have participated in advantages of the adult education work conducted by the Santa Ana city schools, saved that school department from total annihilation last night during further consideration of budget cuts by the board of education.

While the department was retained, it was a matter of retaining that which would injure the educational system the least and discard those things that are not essential.

Early in the campaign to make income and expenditures meet for the year 1932-33 the adult education department budget was cut down to $16,000 from an approximate $26,000 for last year. Last week when the anticipated tax deficiency for next year was estimated at 20 per cent in a report prepared by Everett Boynton, budget director for the schools, and submitted by Dr. Percy Davis, superintendent, the need of additional saving was indicated.

Cuts were made leaving a deficit of $16,000 still to be met. Dr. Davis advised against further reductions in the school program for children saying that any further cuts would be detrimental in the face of this recommendation it was suggested that the adult education department might be eliminated to balance the budget.

Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the department, appeared before the board last night and asserted that adult education is self supporting through bonuses and state payments for attendance that total $38,700. This state aid, she pointed out would be withdrawn next year should the work be discontinued and could not be returned, in the event of resumption of the work, until one year after its start.

P.-T. A. Request
Mrs. N. N. Beisel, presented a petition from the P.-T. A. organizations and spoke on behalf of continuing the work. She said that this work is the most efficient method of raising educational standards in the home and education of parents is essential if the child education program is to be successful. She declared that money spent for educating a child merely to return it to an uneducated home is money lost because the home environment is stronger than that of the school. The importance of maintaining morale of adults during the present economic crisis and the importance of helping parents to become better parents was stressed in a talk by Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch.

Mrs. J. P. Wallace pointed out that during the World War thousands of dollars were spent in maintaining the morale of citizens and declared that at present citizenship morale is in greater danger than during war days. The adult education program, she pointed out, has enabled many parents to maintain their morale in the face of great economic stress.

Members of the lip reading class, conducted as a part of the program were present and told of benefits derived from that work. W. M. Burke, board member, spoke outlining his position in favoring elimination of the adult education departments this year on the grounds that regardless of where the money comes from, whether state, or county, the burden is actually borne by the people of the community who pay either through property or other taxes. Burke prefaced his talk by calling attention to the fact that he is a pioneer in adult education having taught in adult departments for 16 years and said that he realizes the value of this work. He said the delegations attending last night's meeting of the board were representing only those who were interested in retaining the courses, while the people who were called upon to pay the bill were not represented.

He said that while he favored continuance of the vocational courses he is opposed to the cultural classes that have made it possible for people of wealth to take advantage of clog dancing, piano, pottery and similar cultural courses which the working man is called on to pay for through taxes on his home.

People Demanding Halt
The educational system, both day and night courses, has expended, he said until the people are demanding a halt and the school board is facing the necessity of making reductions to meet this demand.

There is a deficiency in the tentative set up of the budget which must be eliminated, he said, he pointed out that further cuts from the day school system would be disastrous and that while the board would like to give the special services offered through adult education.

and said if anything were retained in the adult educational system that course would probably be provided.

In closing his talk he said that it is far more essential for the welfare of society to continue the children's educational program without further reduction than to continue offering cultural courses in the adult education department.

Mrs. Weston presented a program calling for the expenditure of $6571 to be used for adult education next year. Under her program $1350 would be allowed as salary for the director; $800 for secretarial help; $100 for printing; $100 for postage, and $111 for teachers' salaries.

Under her plan she pointed out that $2000 would be used in presenting courses in parental education to groups of 100 or more people and the remainder be divided in special group work with classes ranging from 15 to 25 students. Mexican work could be continued at a cost of $360 through the conduct of Mexican educational and cultural clubs. This program also would provide for continuation of educational work in the county jail.

Dr. Margaret Baker said that last night's meeting represented one sixth of the city's taxpayers and she believed that was sufficient indication of the desire for continuation of the adult education work. She introduced the motion setting aside $7000 for the adult education department budget with the proviso that parental education and lip reading be continued. Her motion was seconded by Rolla Hays.

Hall Resigns As Firestone Manager

Jerry Hall, for the past 13 months manager of the Firestone Service stores of Orange county, with headquarters in Santa Ana, announced today that after Thursday, May 12, he would no longer be connected with the Firestone organization, electing to go into business in Santa Ana for himself.

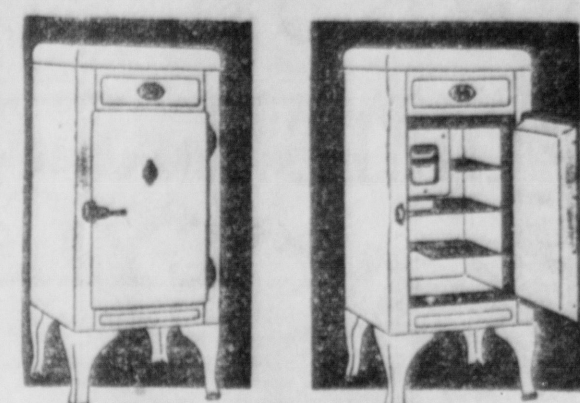

Hall was not able today to state what brand of tire he would handle in the future, but did say that he would be an independent tire dealer, in a Santa Ana location, the lease for which has not been signed he stated. Official announcement of the new business will be made within the next few days.

W. D. Johnson, of Los Angeles has been assigned to the Santa Ana store for Firestone here succeeding Mr. Hall, it was announced.

SIDEWALKS AND CURBS ORDERED BY CITY BOARD

ORANGE, May 11.—Reports on the investigation made by C. C. Bonbrake, city superintendent of streets, were heard and adopted by members of the city council yesterday at a special session. The first was a report of the proposed installation of sidewalks and curbs on West Almond street. The cost of the improvement is to be levied on an assessment district and is to cost $281. Of this sum $231 represents the cost of the improvement and $50 the cost of the proceedings. The project was launched at a meeting of the city council April 14 when Bonbrake was instructed to make the required investigation.

The other report related to the opening of the alley extending from the Plaza square to East Almond street and the cost of this improvement is to be levied on an assessment district outlined in the report. There will be no bond issue, it was stated. Hearings on the projects when protests may be presented will be held on May 24.

The assessed valuation of the real estate of the district as given by the county is $47,810. That of the improvements, including the buildings, etc., at $27,085. The actual value of the district as made in a tabulation of relative values by the state is $164,295.56, Bonbrake said.

The estimated cost of the improvement in paying for the land involved is $2510 and the expense of proceedings is placed at $455, making a total cost of $2965 for the assessment district.

A. H. Helm stated that Earl Campbell had asked him to present the matter of the finances of the city night baseball clubs to the council. Helm said that the clubs were in the red and that they were required to pay $3 a night at the high school grounds to cover the expense of using this field. Campbell through Helm asked for a donation of $100 for the clubs. He stated that he had been told there were seven clubs.

The council decided that the clubs did not hold the same position as the playgrounds or the horse-shoe grounds, which are open to the public, and the request was not granted.

Dinner Held By Beach W. C. T. U.

ORANGE, May 11.—Mother's day was the occasion for an enjoyable family party given when Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bonner were hosts in their home, 241-2 Plaza square. Colorful bouquets of spring flowers, presented to the hostess by her guests, were used in decking the rooms.

At 4 o'clock dinner was served at a prettily appointed table. The dessert course included three lovely birthday cakes, provided by daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bonner. Many other gifts were presented to Mrs. Bonner.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bonner and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Baublis, of Pomona; son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Freeman, of Los Angeles; son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Roberts and son, Bobbie, of Los Angeles; a daughter, Mrs. Winona Olson, and George Appell, of Long Beach, and Mrs. Nellie Kennedy, of Los Angeles.

'HOME' SERIES CHURCH GROUP CONCLUDED BY DR. L. D. OSBORN OPENS SESSION

ORANGE, May 11.—Bringing to a close a series of weekly talks on "The Home," Dr. L. D. Osborn spoke last at the First Presbyterian church. The series was planned under the auspices of the Orange Ministerial association, with members of the P. T. A. and Y. M. C. A. co-operating.

"Can the Family Have Two Heads" was Dr. Osborn's topic. He brought out that a new family pattern is needed for this democratic age, when the old time patriarchal family is a thing of the past. Great disorganization of the family has resulted from lack of a pattern to follow, he continued. The old way of carrying out home life has passed away, and the new has not yet crystallized.

Need Not Obey
Women still love and honor, but need not obey, so the patriarchal family does not exist, Dr. Osborn stated. The ideal husband and wife comprise a monogamous democratic partnership based on mutual love, reinforced by adequate social safeguards and permanent endurance, he brought out.

However, the family must have a head, just as unity is required in any social group, he continued. One member of the family will be most suited to carry on the necessary leadership, and must do so. In a successful business partnership, there is no lack of leadership, and the policies of family life should be as clear cut as those of any firm. However, the head must not be aggressive.

Equality of Status
In the marriage partnership, responsibilities should be shared, but individuals of both husband and wife should be retained. Equality of status is the underlying theme of the partnership, the speaker said.

The natural division of labor for the man and woman is for the husband to earn the living and the wife to specialize in homemaking. In order for this division to be truly successful, both the husband and wife must realize that homemaking is one of the greatest professions of life. Also, it must be understood that the wife, through her work in the homemaking, earns a joint share in the income. She should feel that she has earned the weekly or monthly check just as her husband has, Dr. Osborn declared.

The children may be junior partners, who take part in home affairs in accordance with their temperaments, ages, abilities and other factors. This does not mean that the expression above all else, as many people stress at the present time. They must have social control. All is passed, it is far better to use this form of control than none at all, he said.

The Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church, presided over the meeting. The Rev. R. B. McAulay, pastor of the Presbyterian church assisted.

Tennis League To Hold Contest In Orange on May 14

ORANGE, May 11.—The Young People's fellowships of the Episcopal churches of Santa Ana, Fullerton and Orange have organized a tennis league, playing their matches on Saturday mornings. Five events are played each Saturday and one point is scored for each event. The standing at present is: Games won, Santa Ana, 9; lost, 6; Fullerton, games won, 6; lost, 4; Orange, games won, 5; lost, 10.

The remaining matches are, May 14, Fullerton at Orange, and May 21, Fullerton at Santa Ana. Of the five points won by Orange three have been turned in by Charles Armstrong, who has won the singles each time he has played.

Summer Program Discussed When P. T. A. Convenes

W.C.T.U. LEADER IN CHURCH TALK

ORANGE, May 11.—Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, state director of scientific temperance instruction for the W. C. T. U., brought a stirring temperance address at the close of the Sunday school at the Mennonite church. She stressed the need of Christian people being wide awake and exerting their influence against the appeal of the Eighteenth amendment and the wet and false propaganda.

Mrs. Fay Soranson preached a Mother's day sermon from the text "Behold Thy Mother," John 19:27. She said the word "Mother" calls to our minds different things. To the old people it means sweet memories of her who has gone on before. To middle age it means

A business meeting is scheduled for 10:10 o'clock, at which time there will be the reading of the minutes, a treasurer's report and appointment of committees. Browning, chairman of the tax committee's sub-committee on roads, will talk on "The 40-cent Road Tax."

An open discussion will follow the talks and moving pictures will be shown by Miss Henrietta Gloff, a representative of the Santa Fe railroad. Miss Gloff will give a talk on the Indian detour through New Mexico starting at Gallup.

a dear one who is still living but is becoming aged and inactive. Then last but not least comes the young mother of today who is producing men and women of tomorrow. She stressed the fact that mothers have the opportunities of molding and shaping the lives of their children because they are under her care while their lives are tender and plastic. She quoted Napoleon in saying, "The future of the child is always the work of the mother."

DRIVER FINED $25

ORANGE, May 11.—Wilton Wright, 21, of Villa Park, was fined $25 in the court of Judge A. W. Swayze yesterday when he appeared on a charge of reckless driving. BETTER FILMS GROUP PROBES LEGAL ANGLES

Discussion and consideration of various legislative steps that could be employed to better the tone of moving pictures shown in Santa Ana and Orange county, featured a meeting of the executive committee of the Better Films association of Orange county which was held Monday night in the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. building.

Consideration was given to legislation in effect in New York and other states in regard to the type of moving pictures shown and regulating the showings. City ordinances in effect in other cities also were discussed and commented upon by various attorneys from several county cities who were present.

It was brought out at the meeting that there are six states in the United States have regulations prohibiting children from seeing films that might do them harm. Other countries have nation-wide legislation. It was said. It was pointed out that some 29 miles of Hollywood was banned in England last year.

The legislative committee was requested to formulate suggestions to city and county legislation to give the ends of the association and to make a report at the next meeting of the committee, which will be held in the same place on May 25.

No harm would result to the moving picture industry by showing a better class of pictures, members stated at the meeting last night, and brought out the fact that the association does not wish to harm the industry in taking any action or formulating legislation. It is believed that the industry would profit by showing pictures parents could take their entire families to see.

WILL OPEN SCOUT CAMP ON JUNE 21

In order to give boys of Orange county an opportunity to spend Fourth of July in Camp Roldi, the Boy Scout camp in the San Bernardino mountains, during the first two weeks camping period, the date for opening camp this year has been changed from June 20 to 21, it was announced today by Harrison E. White, scout executive.

Every parent of a Boy Scout in Orange county will receive the annual camp folder in the near future. The folder contains a comprehensive account of the camp life and methods of conducting the camp.

Members of the camping committee, including M. B. Wellington, O. A. Andrews, and Rodney Bacon, with Executive White, are making definite plans to make several trips to camp to determine what improvements can be made for the comfort of boys who attend camp this year. A report made by members who went to camp this past week end indicated that snow is still deep on the ground at and around the camp.

INTERESTING REVIEW OF CONDITIONS AND EXPERIENCES IN CHINA GIVEN IN LETTER

Depicting graphically conditions in the Orient and relating interesting experiences in China, Alan Pope, inspector in the county agricultural department who resides at 1202 South Sycamore street, recently received a letter from a friend, N. L. Coleman, an architect who is now designing houses in China. Following is the letter, in part:

"As far as Shanghai is concerned, the war is over. The 10 p. m. curfew has been lifted. The soldiers of all nations are not nearly so thick on the street, and the old place is getting back to normal again, which means the shops are taking down their shutters, bringing their precious goods out of hiding and displaying them in the windows again. People, people, people, everywhere. All N. Y. City crowded into Peking would be about the same crowd as Shanghai.

"During the best part of a month on the N. Y. K. boat I learned to speak quite a bit of Japanese, and the week I spent in Japan will never be forgotten. To really tell you about it I would have to start to outline the philosophy and spirit of the people. The West does not begin to understand them. Whether or not they are right or wrong about the Shanghai and Manchuria incidents is of no consequence—they have something that all the real thinkers and students of philosophy and esoteric teachings of the world are seeking—it is in the make-up of everyone from the coolie to the best educated. I find everyone in the far east recognizes that fact, and deprecates the conditions which make the western politicians and big business men feel they must not let the people of the States and Europe know too much about it.

"Near Battle Line
"I landed in Shanghai in the very middle of the war, and as the center of fighting activity was only a few blocks away, it was exciting enough. The day was very cold and windy, and the hundreds of thousands of refugees Chinese from the war area were crowded into the streets of the International Settlement till one could barely make headway through them, and what with all the filth and grime and dirty ragged coolies it was far from a pleasing sight, especially after the serene loveliness of Japan.

"Here is a little idea of the lay of the land in Shanghai. You will see how near we were to the war area.

"The red line in the International Settlement is Bubbling Well road, and is about one-third of a mile from the Soochow Creek which divides the Settlement from Chapel, the Chinese settlement which has been shot to the ground and burned.

"We watched the fires for a couple of weeks from our windows and did our best to sleep to the roar of cannon and machine gun. The streets are still blocked off at all boundaries with sandbag forts and barbed wire entanglements—which will soon disappear, I expect.

"This is a great life, Al, if you can stand the dirt and filth and the smells—no one in Shanghai ever thinks of getting up until after breakfast has been finished in bed—you have your own rickshaw—coolie and believe it or not, I can get into the center of town about 3 miles away in the rickshaw quicker than the motor bus can take me. Some day China is going to produce a flock of marathon runners that will make Nuri look like an amateur.

"Monetary System
"By the way, did I tell you about the money in Shanghai? There are four kinds of money, and I doubt if they understand it themselves.

"Let's start with $1 American money. Exchange it for $4.20 more or less Mex which means Chinese silver or paper dollars. Now if the 20 cents is a paper bill it is 'big money' and if exchanged for a silver 20c piece, which is 'small money,' you get one 20c piece and some coppers change (anywhere from 2 to 18 coppers depending on the exchange rates of the day.)

"Some days $1 Mex is worth six 20c silver pieces.

"Also 1 Tael (pronounced Tail) is worth about $1.20 Mex.

"Also the Hy fong Tael used for paying government salaries is worth about $1.20 Mex.

"It is a terrible mixup, and I think has developed as a result of juggling prices when selling to foreigners, and China is a past master at that—Al Capone is a real amateur when it comes to the take-off or 'squeeze' as it is called here. A newcomer is always given change in small money until he learns to ask for 'big money' change (or paper 20c bills) and prices in antique shops where things are really valuable like rugs and jade, you make a bargain for so many dollars and then you find you owe Tael dollars which means about 20 per cent more, and so it goes. I could write a whole book on the subject of 'squeeze.'

"Much of Interest
"There are so many strange things to tell you about, I don't know where to begin. Every time I look out of my window I see something well worth writing about. A Chinese wedding, a funeral, a herd of pigs being driven right down

HOLD PROGRAM FOR WORKERS IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, May 11.—A program of entertainment was presented by the Workers' Legion of Fullerton at the headquarters at 233 West Commonwealth avenue last night at which over 100 persons paid an admission charge of canned food, which will be distributed by this organization to those in need.

In a brief talk, the Rev. B. Dudley, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, reviewed the meeting called by the Associated Chamber of Commerce in Santa Ana last February at which time members of the Fullerton Ministerial association presented a recommendation that the county authorities continue the relief work up until the fruit season started.

He talked on the general social needs of the country and stated that it was his belief that the government should have the right to conscript capital in times of need, if it also has the right to conscript manhood. He also advocated a further increase in the income tax for those persons whose income exceeded $25,000 yearly.

Social welfare was discussed by Verne A. Baker. He said that this was the biggest problem confronting the nation at the present time.

W. J. Carmichael, who was scheduled to talk, was not present because of the death of his sister.

W. M. Stillans presided as chairman. He told of the work being done by the organization. He said that 46 heads of families had been given food during the day representing 28 different products. He said that the total daily expenditure was $250.

The entertainment consisted of a violin trio, "Andantino," by Mrs. L. R. Roberson, accompanied by Mrs. Lykins; "5 Air Variations" by Nadine Roberson; violin solo, "6 Air Variations" by Mrs. L. R. Roberson and a whistling solo by Sam Wright.

J. O. C. UNION TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET

Local members of the National J. O. C. Union are planning to attend the Eighth Annual Spring Assembly of the Sunday school class which will be held at Pacific Palisades next Saturday and Sunday. The national president, Mrs. Elaine Dudley, will be the presiding officer.

Dr. Mark Wise of San Francisco, well known traveling evangelist, will be the featured speaker at the Sunrise service when she speaks on the subject, "Thou Art Come to the Kingdom for Such a Time as This."

Mrs. Anna L. Dennis, for six years a member of the faculty of the Bible Institute, will speak at the Sunday morning service on the subject, "Beholding Him We are Changed." The closing address on Sunday afternoon will be given by Dr. J. Marvin Pharr, brilliant young Southern orator, who has chosen the subject, "The Consecration of Personality" as the theme of his address.

The banquet on Saturday night will be followed by a Hi-Jinks and a social gathering.

Dry Workers Organize Strategy Board For Santa Ana

WILL OPPOSE PLANS AGAINST PROHIBITION

Organized to definitely work with the county, state and national Boards of Strategy in militantly opposing any move to repeal the eighteenth amendment or render it ineffective, 18 prominent dry leaders from Santa Ana were unanimously elected to the local Board of Strategy which was formed at a general meeting of local organizations interested in the movement, which was held in the administration building of the Spurgeon Memorial M. E. church yesterday afternoon.

Nation Wide Move

Inspiration for organization of the local board was gained through the fact that on the same day throughout the nation, similar organizations were being formed, according to Mrs. Ann Evans, president of the W. C. T. U. who presided over the meeting.

J. F. Burke, a member of the state Board of Strategy, in a brief talk explained the objects of the organizations and the reason for forming them. "This will be a war," he said, "and will be a test to see if democracy can function in a war and emergency. The constitution states that if a war comes, the entire government comes under one head, under the leadership of the president, who is all-powerful. This is done in knowledge of the fact that wars can be won under single leadership, that divided leadership means failure. The Board of Strategy is devised to do the same thing, to bring out of all leadership a unity of action that all can follow."

"If we can unite the prohibition forces under recognized Christian leaders with a definite plan of action we can probably win the state. The hope of the enemy is in division. You want to lay down some strong, fundamental principles to follow. This is a tremendously important time to get together. Sometimes I think if I could bring back the horrors of the liquor traffic to confuse the lies being told by wet leaders, I would do so."

Dethrone Liquor

"We forgot our object after the eighteenth amendment was passed. The object was to make the sale of liquor illegal. It was to dethrone all liquor. If the board of strategy were to advise me to support any candidate who is opposed to the eighteenth amendment I should find it very difficult to do."

Members of the local Board of Strategy who were chosen yesterday were the Rev. C. D. Hicks, the Rev. George A. Warner, the Rev. Samuel Edgar, the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, the Rev. T. W. Ringland, the Rev. C. M. Aker, the Rev. U. E. Harding, the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, Nancy Elder, of the Y. W. C. A.; Ralph Smedley, of the Y. M. C. A.; Mrs. Roy Beal, of the city P. T. A.; Mrs. Guy Belcher, of the P. T. A.; Mrs. Octavia Goldsworthy, of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. Elizabeth

To Discuss Reduction Tax Costs

With reduction of taxation and governmental operation costs a subject of wide discussion and vital interest to many residents of Santa Ana, a large crowd is expected to attend a public meeting sponsored by the Santa Ana Realty Board which will be held in connection with the regular meeting in Ketter's cafe Friday noon when A. Cavalli, of Flushing, New York, will speak on the subject, "Tax Reduction."

The Realty Board tax committee will be in charge of the meeting, with Asa Hoffman presiding.

According to W. B. Martin, president of the board, Cavalli is organizer of the property owners' division who works with many realty boards throughout the nation and is well informed on the subject. "Every man who owns real estate should hear him," President Martin said today in announcing the meeting, "and we cordially invite all to meet with us while we discuss tax relief on real estate. Come and lend your support to this vital issue."

ASK DELEGATES TO SUPPORT DRY PLANKS

Declaring that anti-prohibition forces after four years of agitation, have not been able to present a better plan than prohibition and specifying that all delegates from this district to national party conventions be requested to give their votes for enforcement and not for repeal planks, a resolution was adopted at the meeting of the Santa Ana W. C. T. U. held yesterday afternoon in the education building of the Spurgeon Memorial M. E. church, at which meeting a local board of strategy was organized.

Following is the resolution in full:

"Whereas, the anti-prohibition forces after four years of agitation, have not been able to present a better plan than prohibition; and

"Whereas, they now present home rule, which means a return to the old conditions of state option, therefore be it

"Resolved, that we request delegates from our district to the national party conventions to give their votes for enforcement and not for repeal planks (camouflaged as resubmission)."

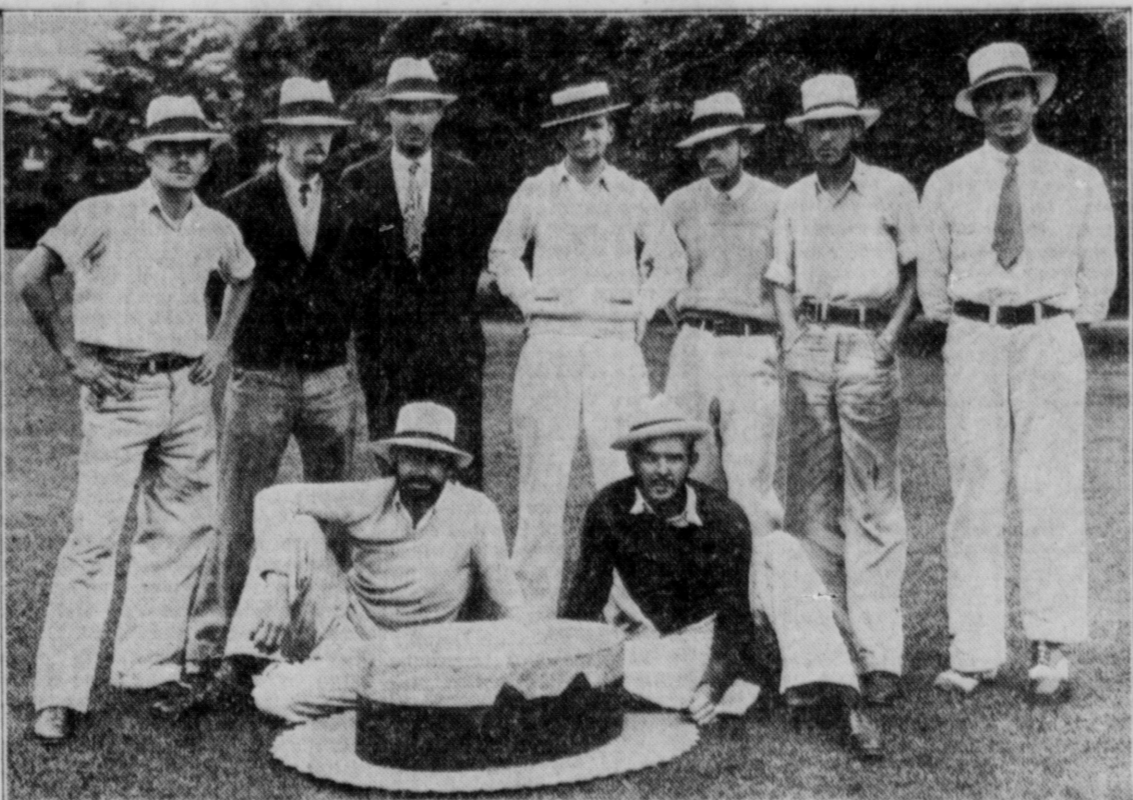

Warren, Mrs. Edith Ward Moore, Mrs. Effie Nicholson, Mrs. Josephine Blood and Mrs. Ann Evans of the W. C. T. U.

Previous to the meeting Naomi Sands sang a solo. The Rev. Mr. Buchanan led in prayer. Following the organization meeting, Mrs. Harry Owings led in devotionals.

Mrs. Evans announced that working instructions would come from the state board and that another meeting of the local board would be held later this week to elect officers and to make definite plans for an active campaign.

THESE BEARDED DONS ARE READY

BOOSTER BODY UNDERWRITES AIRPORT LIGHTS

Santa Ana is assured now of a class "A" government rated airport with the announcement today by George Raymer, secretary of the chamber of commerce that the chamber has agreed to pay half of the $410 it will cost to install six new lights on top of poles at the Eddie Martin airport.

With the installation of the six additional lights, the local airport will be rated as highly as any in the United States and will be accorded a place on government airways maps. The chamber of commerce had previously provided lights for marking the sides of the field.

The balance of the money will be raised by making special passenger flights over the Santiago canyon dam, Modjeska's home and other points of interest in this section. Some of the money will be raised by subscription.

The matter has been under consideration by the aviation committee of the chamber for some time.

Card Party For Brea Auxiliary

BREA, May 11.—Legion auxiliary No. 181 is planning a bridge and "500" party to be held at the Legion hall at 2 o'clock May 20. All players ready to begin promptly at the appointed hour will have 100 points added to their scores.

TREES PLANTED IN HONOR OF S. A. VETS

Trees have been planted in memory of two well known Santa Ana veterans at the national home at Yountville, California. It was announced here today by officers of the Jack Fisher chapter D. A. V. William J. Murphy, past national commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and Paul K. Cassidy, who organized the D. A. V. chapter at Yountville, are the two veterans thus signally honored. Murphy passed away in Los Angeles last December while Cassidy expired at Las Vegas, Nevada, more than a year ago.

The tree planting was under the supervision of Colonel Nelson M. Holderman, commandant of the national home at Yountville. Holderman will be remembered as one of Orange county's greatest World war heroes.

This information was imparted recently when Mrs. Rose Edwards, state commander of the Women's Auxiliary, D. A. V., returned from her visit to all auxiliaries of the state.

ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC PLANS ADVANCE

Plans are almost completed for the annual Sunday school picnic of the First Presbyterian church to be held Saturday in Irvine park. Indications are that the picnic this year will set a record for attendance.

Two committees are working on a program that will assure a complete program of entertainment for boys and girls during the day. This program is being arranged by Harvey Bear and M. Youel who are planning sports events for the boys and Miss Isabelle Lindsay and Miss Margaret Gaebie in charge of girls' events.

Transportation will be in charge of Harry Lewis, Gus Leive and Gene Grist. This committee is arranging for sufficient automobiles to transport everyone to the park and return them to the city after the picnic.

George Shriver and Will Anderson have been appointed to a committee in charge of supplying citrus drinks and Steve Grist and Oscar Witt will provide ample ice cream for everyone attending the picnic. Coffee will be provided by J. C. Kirby.

While particular efforts are being directed to provide entertainment for the boys and girls the adults planning to attend have not been neglected. A program of games and contests has been arranged and it is rumored that a baseball game probably will be the big attraction before the group disbands. Dinner will be served family style at noon.

ADOPT REPORTS CALLING FOR LOWER TAXES

Shifting of the heaviest burden of school cost from real estate to a selective sales tax and a personal income tax to raise a fund of $35,000,000 to carry out the plan proposed by the California Real Estate association and for which the people will be asked to vote on a constitutional amendment next November, will be recommended to the Orange County Coast association at its dinner meeting next Tuesday evening at Travaglini's cafe in San Clemente, by the tax committee, of which Mayor Thomas F. Murphy of San Clemente is chairman. At a meeting held last night in Laguna Beach the committee adopted a report read by N. E. West, chairman of the state taxation subcommittee, advocating such action.

The committee also adopted a report made by Hugh T. O'Connor of Los Alamitos, chairman of the school expenditures subcommittee, in which it was recommended that all school meetings be advertised and the public invited to attend especially where expenditures are to be discussed and acted upon.

Urges Large Economies

O'Connor startled other members of the committee when he declared there are more than 100 tax-fixing bodies in Orange county. His report recommended endorsement of the work and recommendations of the joint committee of the Orange County Realty Board and the Orange County Farm Bureau, formed for research action looking toward the reduction in school expenses in this county. The O'Connor report urged that more care be given to school expenditures and that a serious effort be made to effect large economies.

The meeting of the coast association next week will be devoted almost entirely to a discussion of the tax question. Other subcommittees are those on city tax matters, with J. P. Greeley of Balboa and Charles R. Furr of Huntington Beach in charge and county tax problems, under direction of Elmer Hughes, mayor of Seal Beach.

Light lights of West's report follow:

"This committee is engaged in the problem which transcends in

Mesa Group To Give Plays At School Friday

COSTA MESA, May 11.—The Beautification association will give a benefit program at the grammar school auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Funds derived will be used for much needed maintenance work.

A play will be put on by the Newport Beach P. T. A. and the high school drama class will give a play. A varied musical program is planned.

FRIDAY, 13TH. OPENS STRAW HAT SEASON

A movement to revive, among college students, the quaint old custom of wearing a hat, appeared to be well under way this week with the revelation that several well known Santa Ana Junior college students have shunned the "college" custom of going bare-headed and several of the Dons are prepared to don the latest thing in straw hats and panamas.

The movement will be climaxed on Friday, May 13, a day, which aside from being generally considered unlucky by those with superstitious inclinations, has been definitely set down as unlucky for felt hats by clothiers all over the country. "Unlucky for felts" day will be observed generally by all Santa Ana clothiers.

Santa Ana clothiers predict that the "wear a hat" vogue will run close competition to the popular summer custom of contrasting sun-tanned skin with white clothes.

Santa Ana men are expected to don their new straw hats Friday, which is the official date for opening the straw hat season.

REHEARSALS START FOR 'UNION DEPOT'

GARDEN GROVE, May 11.—"Union Depot," now rehearsing under the direction of Mrs. W. M. Kelsey, will be presented in the High School auditorium the evening of May 20, according to present plans. The High School P. T. A. is sponsoring the production.

JAYCEE AND H. S. PAPERS WIN AWARDS

For the second successive year El Don, official publication of the Associated Students of Santa Ana Junior college, was awarded the highest rating, that of All-American, in a national high school and collegiate editorial contest sponsored by the National Scholastic Press association. It was made known today following receipt of a letter from the University of Minnesota, headquarters of the association.

Under the supervision of Edgar M. Don, journalism instructor, El Don was edited the first semester of this year by Paul Wright, assisted by Glover Hendrickson as managing editor. All judgments for the contest was based upon the entire collection of copies of papers representing first semester publications.

With a total score of 785 out of a possible 1000 points, El Don came just in the top class, according to the bulletin. An All-American rating was given to those junior colleges throughout the country whose entries garnered points totaling 785 or more. Below this number was counted as First Class.

Out of a total of 250 allowed for news values and sources, El Don received 205 points and for news-writing and editing was allotted 25 out of a possible 300 points. Editorials were given 160 out of 250 points and headlines, typography, and makeup were given 165 out of a possible 250. Judging for the contest was done by eastern newspapermen.

The Generator, high school paper published also under the direction of Flowers, was awarded a first class rating, missing a higher score by five points. It received 810 points and 815 were needed to make it an All-American publication. Flora Parks edited the paper, assisted by Alberta Hazelhurst.

Both El Don and the Generator were published from the high school and junior college print shop under the supervision of Thomas E. Williams.

STAMFORD, Conn.—Officials in the research laboratory of a heat and power company here are scientifically measuring "invisible shadows"—those caused by rays of heat. These heat rays cast shadows that cannot be seen by the human eye, and measurement of them has brought to light many interesting properties of heat.

GETTING DRESSED BY DADDY By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

Illustrations of a baby getting dressed by a father, with humorous captions:

- HERE COMES DADDY TO PUT ON HIS GOING-OUT-OF-DOORS CLOTHES.
- IT'S FUN HAVING DADDY DRESS HIM.
- HE ALWAYS HAS SUCH A STRUGGLE GETTING HIS ARM INTO THE ARMPHOLE
- AND GENERALLY IN THE EXCITEMENT GETS IT INTO THE WRONG ARMPHOLE
- SO THAT AFTER STARTING ALL OVER AGAIN AND GETTING IT ON RIGHT HE HAS TO STOP TO GET HIS BREATH
- BEFORE TRYING TO BUTTON THE COAT, BEING A TICKLISH JOB IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE
- ABOUT THIS TIME MOTHER REMINDS HIM HE WAS TO PUT A SWEATER ON UNDER THE COAT
- AND SO HAVING TAKEN EVERYTHING OFF AND PUT IT ON AGAIN HE REACHES THE BONNET STRINGS AT LAST
- THEN MOTHER COMES, SAYS GOOD GRACIOUS, AND DOES IT ALL OVER AGAIN HERSELF

Local Artists Give Redondo Beach Program

A company of some 35 Santa Ana artists provided the entire evening's entertainment Saturday night for the Redondo Beach lodge of the Moose, at the Moose hall in that city. It was an "open house" evening and 250 Moose and their friends participated in the enjoyment of the occasion, with the program in charge of Jack Dill, deputy supervisor of the Moose lodge, and formerly a resident of Santa Ana.

Mrs. M. C. Wilson of Santa Ana entertained with three delightful readings, and a group of talented young students of the Putnam School of Dancing, provided a series of entertaining specialties.

Little Betty Blossom Goble, five years old this week, entertained with two clever readings and two song and dance numbers. Junior Kavanagh, nine-year-old star of the Putnam school, gave three song and dance numbers. "Dark Town Strutters," "All by Yourself in the Moonlight," and "My Mam," as well as the closing ensemble.

Other numbers provided by the local artists included: buck dance and acrobatic ice dance, Miss Lucie Rueli; pool dance and toe ballet, Miss Virginia Wilson; buck dance and off-rhythm dance, Miss Louise Goble; Spanish dance and waltz dance, Miss Jean McKamy; Jack Blue dance, Miss Imogene Caster; valse bluette, Miss Rueli, Wilson and McKamy; Twelfth Street Rag, Misses Imogene Caster and Lucie Rueli; kick routine, Lucie Rueli, Imogene Caster, Louise Goble, Jean McKamy; Dutch song and dance, Jean McKamy and Lucie Rueli; and piano solos by Miss Geleene Goble.

The Santa Ana Moose lodge orchestra gave several numbers during the entertainment program, and provided music for the dancing which followed. The Santa Ana program made a decided success with the Redondo Beach group and drew much appreciative applause for individual numbers as well as attracting favorable attention to Santa Ana's array of talent.

Forgy Home Affords Ideal Setting for Garden Program

Assembling in the spacious home of Mrs. H. J. Forgy, 2107 North Broadway, the women of the Northwest section of the First Presbyterian Aid society, were treated to a program on flowers, which was featured by an engrossing talk on "Flower Culture" by Miss Ada McFadden. Points in her discussion were illustrated by flowers chosen from a basket brought by the speaker for demonstration, varieties of iris and pansies winning special attention.

Miss McFadden's talk was preceded by a consideration of business matters, Mrs. B. R. Day, president, directing this session, which was followed by devotionals, led by Mrs. W. D. Kring.

Later in the afternoon the women were invited into the gardens for an informal closing hour, in the course of which a sale of potted plants was conducted by Mrs. Mary Snyder.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Forgy and an assisting committee: Mesdames J. C. Kirby, chairman; O. L. Haisell, A. M. Ames, C. L. Cotant, Charles Druitt, Emma Bishop, H. M. Brothers, and Nannie Judd.

D. A. R. Chapter Hears Enjoyable Musical Program

Declared to have been one of the most beautiful musical programs which members of Santa Ana chapter, Daughters of American Revolution ever have shared, the Saturday afternoon musicale planned by Mrs. Arthur May and held in the Y. W. clubrooms, featured two guest artists of pronounced talent in Clarence A. Gustlin, Santa Ana pianist-composer, and Miss Lucille Gibbs, Los Angeles soloist.

There was the customary routine opening of the chapter, conducted by the regent, Mrs. M. M. Holmes, and succeeded by election of officers in which the entire board was returned to office with but two exceptions. Mrs. S. W. Stanley asked to be released from duty as vice-regent, and that post was assigned to Mrs. Mary W. Guthrie, while Mrs. John Clark made the same request regarding membership on the advisory board, and was replaced by Mrs. Grace C. Rowland. The officers then stand as Mrs. Holmes, regent; Mrs. Guthrie, vice-regent; Mrs. John L. Mitchell, recording secretary; Miss Doris Robbins, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. E. Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Jennie Crawford, registrar; Mrs. Cotton Mather, historian; Mrs. C. C. Chapman, chaplain; Mesdames W. H. Hadden, F. W. Andrews, A. J. McFadden and Grace C. Rowland, advisory board.

"Development of American Music" formed the program theme presented in delightful fashion by means of explanatory talks, song, and instrumental numbers. Miss Gibbs explained that the four or five old hymns which those who came to this country on the Mayflower carried in their minds, really formed the basis for some 300 later compositions and Mr. Gustlin played two of these basic hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Hundredth Part." Miss Gibbs then told of the difficulties in that early day, of getting the correct pitch of a melody, asserting that had those early Americans not been so serious in their efforts, the results would have been infinitely humorous. The invention of the pitch pipe solved such difficulties.

The psalmody was the second book from the earliest American printing press, showing the prevailing interest in music, and this was followed by the first American opera, "Temple of Minerva," presented in Paris in honor of George Washington.

After these and other illuminating instances, Miss Gibbs sang a group of charming early American songs, including "Gentle Zephyr" and others equally dainty. From this she moved to the later era, with Stephen Foster's "Oh Susannah," "The Mocking Bird" and various others.

As the songs were illustrated by Miss Gibbs, so the development of composition was explained and illustrated by Mr. Gustlin, who included in his group of piano solos, works by Charles Wakefield Cadman as being especially an American composer; Mrs. H. E. A. Beach, represented by a charming thing based on a nineteenth century Scottish melody; a Homer group, a MacDowell composition played from one of the famous composer's original manuscripts; and Arthur Pogue's "A Meadow Brook" dedicated to the sixteenth century.

Miss Gibbs then sang the Nevil number which won the Pulitzer prize; "Spring's Welcome," by Mr. Gustlin himself; "Sylvia" by Olei Speaks, and Mr. Gustlin brought the program to a close with compositions of some of the American modernists.

Concluding this thoroughly enjoyable afternoon a hostess group composed of Mesdames Alice Hill Hatch, Ida Davis, H. C. Boardley, DeWitt Dudley, E. G. Warner, G. M. Bradley and Miss Artie Cleveland, served the daintiest of refreshments while their chapter sisters chatted with the artists and discussed the features of the program.

Travels Recounted At Pleasant Luncheon

Revisiting incidents of travels to Yosemite three years ago, Mrs. Bell Leonard, Mrs. Lila Ackers, Mrs. Dora Demorest and Mrs. Edith Minter entertained recently in the Leonard home, 511 South Birch street.

The affair had been planned to honor Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wilcox of Pasadena, who became acquainted with the hostess quartet while making the trip to northern California three summers ago. During the day, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox told of their travels in Europe last summer.

Early in the afternoon, a delicious luncheon was served.

Anaheim Friends Are Guests at Party

A pleasant little affair was given recently when Mrs. F. G. Colleau entertained a group of Anaheim friends in her home on West Second street. Bridge was played with the result that Evelyn Elser scored high and Esther Hile, low.

Those present were Frieda Yorke, Evelyn Elser, Corinne Grimm, Laura Schroeder, Dorothy Hile, Esther Hile, Bernice Bremer, and the hostess Mrs. Colleau.

Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

Ebell Section Adds Garden Party to Week's Events

Not only did members of Ebell society's Fifth Household Economics section share an unusually enjoyable luncheon yesterday as guests in the home of Mrs. Severin Schulte, 2630 North Valencia street, but in the afternoon hours they all joined as hostesses in entertaining nearly a hundred guests at a garden bridge of pronounced charm.

Recalling the dominance of the red, white and blue color theme of the Olympiad plans, luncheon hostesses adopted it with marked success for the flowers and party appointments of the table from which the buffet menu was served and which was spread with a handsome Italian lace cloth. Mrs. Schulte had the assistance of her niece, Miss Helen Brashers, as well as the assisting hostesses, Mrs. D. D. Waynick, Mrs. J. W. Rice and Mrs. H. C. Kirk, in all details of serving.

Section members present included also, Mesdames Floyd Spencer, George Chapman, E. C. Diehl, M. D. Borgmeyer, F. F. Mead, D. A. Harwood, Frank Preston J. H. Lippitt, Paul Klatt, Tarver Montgomery, Paul Bailey, Herbert Krahling, Edward Walker, Cood Adams, Howard Stone, George Baymer, E. H. Guthrie, Charles Artz, Hugh Plumb, H. F. Townner, J. D. Watkins, L. E. Allen and Miss Clara Richards, while the only guest was Mrs. O. W. Pafford, guest of Mrs. Kirk.

Section business was speedily dealt with immediately after luncheon, by the efficient leader and secretary, Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Diehl, and then members were in readiness for the arrival of the card party guests. The latter were delighted at the setting afforded by Mrs. Schulte's garden, with its many flowers, its limpid pool, a rock garden, and green stretches of lawn where tables were placed under bright-colored garden umbrellas. For those who wished the shelter of a roof, other tables were arranged within doors.

Both auction and contract bridge were played, and at the close of the afternoon the holder of high score at each table received one of the graceful pottery flower bowls selected as prizes by the hostess group, of which Mrs. George Raymer was chairman.

The party closed with the tea hour when a dainty menu seemed doubly inviting because of the beauty of the surrounding scene, but many guests lingered to see the handsome lacquers, linens, rugs and art objects collected by Mrs. Schulte on her recent trip to the Orient.

Departing Traveler Complimented at Card Party

Complimenting Miss Nan Blair, who will sail soon for Scotland and an extended visit in her former home near Glasgow, was a very pleasant party of Monday night held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Turnbull, 408 South Flower street.

Five hundred was planned as the evening's amusement, and Mrs. Turnbull gave an effective setting to her card tables by using many bright-hued flowers throughout the room. In the contest, prizes for high scoring were awarded Miss Ruby Blair and Robert Calderwood, while Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis were consoled.

At the conclusion of the games the hostess served an inviting refreshment course to her guests, who included in addition to her honoree, Miss Blair, Miss Ruby Blair, Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Grant and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bruce of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aiken of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis of Eagle Rock, and Robert Calderwood of Los Angeles.

Miss Blair will sail from Los Angeles harbor on June 5, going by way of the Panama canal. She has spent the past half dozen years in the United States, and is a sister of Mrs. George Phillips, 302 South Parton street. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips also came from Scotland, but unlike Miss Blair, plan to make their permanent home in this country.

Lloyd D. Smith Home Scene of Surprise Birthday Dinner

Entertaining in honor of her husband, Mrs. Lloyd D. Smith arranged a successful surprise affair on his birthday anniversary, last evening when she played hostess at a dinner party, given in their home at 408 Halesworth street.

Flower decorations were of elaborate variety, sweet peas, red gladioluses and Spanish iris being used profusely, while table appointments were confined to baby gladioluses and bachelor buttons. A surprise feature of the dinner was the presentation of a birthday cake baked by Mrs. E. P. Gilmore, mother of Mrs. Smith, to the guest of honor.

Bridge claimed the attention of guests after the repast, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Conklin proving successful in their respective fields, while consolation awards went to Miss Elizabeth Roehm and Eugene Heiss, holding low among contestants.

Gathered at Mrs. Smith's invitation were Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Conklin, Miss Mariam Adamson, Miss Elizabeth Roehm, Burt Zaiser and Eugene Heiss.

Mothers Are Guests of Phi Zeta Members At Musicale

One of the most attractive affairs at which members of the Phi Zeta musical society have played hostesses this season was the tea musicale planned in compliment to their mothers, which took place Sunday in the ranch home of the Lewis S. Moultons, near El Toro.

Receiving at the tea were Mrs. Blanche Owens, president of the club, Mrs. Lewis S. Moulton and Miss Charlotte Moulton, who headed the group responsible for the party's preparation.

Two guest artists, Miss Ruth Armstrong, Santa Ana pianist, and Harold Tompkins of Anaheim, tenor soloist, participated, with Miss Georgia Walton, violinist and member of the society, in the well planned musical program with which guests were entertained before the serving of tea. All three artists, giving delightful performances, were warmly received by their audience, from the opening violin selections of Miss Walton: "Midnight Bells" (Kreisler) and "Nocturne" (Schubert) to Mr. Tompkins' final offerings, "Elegy" (Mendelssohn) and "The Old Refrain" (Kreisler). Earlier solos by Mr. Tompkins which found an enthusiastic reception were "That Wonderful Mother of Mine" and "Luxembourg Gardens," while Miss Walton's succeeding violin numbers included "Songs My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak-Kreisler) and Kreisler's "Le Tambourin Chinois," these being followed by a request number, "Le Filles Aux Cheveux de Lin" (Debussy).

Repeating to the dining room, guests were greeted by Mrs. L. G. Swales and Mrs. Ralph A. Mosher, officiating at the tea urns, while the mothers found awaiting them corsages, fashioned of flowers from the Moulton gardens, and grouped artistically upon the tea table.

Sharing the informal reception hour were the following members of the society and their mothers, or special guests: Miss Charlotte Moulton, Mrs. Lewis S. Moulton; Miss Mignon Swales, Mrs. L. G. Swales; Mrs. Ralph A. Mosher, Mrs. W. W. Hyde; Miss Evelyn Metzger, Mrs. Joseph H. Metzger; Miss Georgia B. Walton, Mrs. O. M. Robbins; Mrs. Dale Park, Mrs. E. O. Abers; Mrs. Forde Scott, Mrs. Lyle B. Mitchell; Miss Margaret Rust, Mrs. H. W. Rust; Ralph Baker, Mrs. W. Bowman (of Los Angeles); Mrs. Mervyn M. Bryte, Mrs. Blanche Owens, Miss Dorothy Mayhew, Mrs. John Biehan. Special guests of the sorority included Miss Berta Armstrong, Miss Ruth Armstrong, Mrs. W. Baxter and Harold Tompkins.

Committee working on various phases of the party were, tea: Miss Dorothy Mayhew, Mrs. Dale Park, Miss Margaret Rust; and music, Miss Georgia B. Walton; while patronesses assisting were Mrs. Joseph H. Metzger, Mrs. L. G. Swales and Mrs. Ralph Mosher.

Eastern Star

The official visit of Mrs. Nellie Sylvester, deputy grand matron, was a feature of the meeting of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S. held Monday evening in the Masonic temple. All phases of the work were exemplified for the honored guest.

Mrs. Winnie Dean and George Shine, worthy matron and patron of the chapter, presided.

As Mrs. Sylvester was escorted to the east, she was presented with flowers. At the close of the meeting, she was presented with a gift from Santa Ana chapter. This proved to be one thousand dimes colored and placed to represent the points of the star. Mrs. Sylvester responded with a talk.

The group adjourned to the banquet room where refreshments were served. Mrs. Mary Hoffman, chairman of the committee, was assisted by Mrs. Kate Hoffman, Frank Hoff, Sam Hurwitz and Roland Kloess.

Newspaper Office is Setting for Club Program

With Roberta Rinear, "sweet singer of California" as their guest, Quill Pen members last night were especially happy to hear some of Mrs. Rinear's short poems, enjoying their delicate imagery, their touch of the whimsical, and their melodious qualities to the utmost. It was the guest of Mrs. Hester Reuter that Mrs. Rinear attended the club meeting, consenting with pleasing simplicity of manner, to read aloud some of her published work.

Club members were entertained by Mrs. Marah Adams and Mrs. Emmett Elliott, who as members of the Register news staff, received their guests in the editorial rooms of the newspaper office. Members once before staged a meeting in the main news room, to be given desks and assignments in true reportorial style, but last night they were received in the editorial sanctum of the owner and editor, J. F. Burke, who had placed his suite of rooms at the convenience of Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Elliott.

Business features were speedily concluded under the direction of the president, Mrs. Reuter, and the program launched by Mrs. Rinear's poems. Miss Lella Watson read a short story whose plot was advanced largely by means of sparkling conversation, and whose authorship was revealed at the tale's conclusion, when Miss Watson explained that it was the work of Mrs. Robert Northross of the junior college faculty.

Mrs. J. U. Vian and Miss Dorothy Clarkson had the two remaining manuscripts of the scheduled program, while the 20-minute interval was conducted by Mrs. S. B. Marshall.

Returning to the social department of the newspaper office, the clubwomen were served refreshments including drip coffee made over the electric grill of its equipment, with Mrs. J. D. Campbell assisting in serving.

Two special guests shared the evening with the club members, Mrs. Rinear and Miss Margaret Bolte, the guest of Mrs. Winches. Members present were Mrs. Herman Reuter, Miss Dorothy Clarkson, Mrs. Marshall Harnois, Mrs. R. A. Cushman, Miss Lella Watson, Mrs. S. B. Marshall, Mrs. Maude Goff, Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Mrs. Frank W. Smith, Mrs. Harry M. Smith, Mrs. Blanche Brown, Mrs. J. U. Vian, Mrs. Roy Winchester, and the hostesses, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Elliott.

Sigma Tau Psi Plan Courtesy Tea for Their Mothers

While each party planned by Sigma Tau Psi members seems to those fortunate enough to be present, to attain a higher level of enjoyment than its predecessors, the tea which the sorority planned as a compliment to mothers of the members, seemed invested with a charm distinctly its own, and proved one of the happiest of Mother's day celebrations.

The home of Miss Eloise Wright on Cannon lane, Fullerton, was rendezvous for Sigma Tau Psi members and their honor guests, and was at its loveliest aspect because of the myriad of pastel-petaled blossoms arranged in graceful baskets and jars. Each mother was presented a corsage bouquet of sweet peas as a favor.

Bridge was played and to Mrs. Elliott Rowland, holder of high score, was presented an appropriate gift while door prize, equally desirable, went to Mrs. H. T. Dunning.

At the tea hour Mrs. E. R. Majors and Mrs. Elliott Rowland presided at the tea and coffee urns placed amidst the rosebuds and candles of a daintily appointed table. Assorted sandwiches and cake completed the tea menu.

Mothers extended this pretty compliment included Mrs. A. Glen Wright, Mrs. H. T. Dunning, Mrs. Thomas Mann, Mrs. W. W. Read, Mrs. Elliott Rowland, Mrs. W. W. Carothers, Mrs. Ira Leck, Mrs. F. C. Pope, Mrs. C. E. McMaster, Mrs. C. Duane Holmes, Mrs. E. U. Dickenson and Mrs. B. E. Tarver.

Sorority members present were the Misses Eloise Wright, Betty Rowland, Jean Rowland, Alyce Majors, Mary Read, Bethel Dickenson, Louise Leck, Doris Goff, Jean Peacock, Phyllis Pope, Anne Tarver, Lucy Holmes, Muriel Rogers and Winifred Johnston.

W. C. T. U.

Tuesday afternoon's meeting of Santa Ana W. C. T. U. convened at 1:30 o'clock in Spurgeon Memorial church, was a very interesting one under the presidency of Mrs. Amy Evans.

Miss Leona Sands sang "Enough to Know," after which Mrs. Harry Evan Owens led the devotional service, and Mrs. Wieman sang "I'm Sure I Shall Not Pass Again This Way," for which Mrs. Emma J. Williams played the accompaniment.

The subject of the program was "Health," and was in charge of Miss Emily Cox, who illustrated her talk by different charts, after which questions were proposed and answered. Several ministers and others interested in the organization of a local strategy board were present, and an address on the subject was delivered by J. F. Burke, who offered suggestions for the formation of such a board.

Before the session came to a close, members passed a resolution to be sent delegates to the national party conventions, asking them to work against bills for the changing of the present dry laws.

Silver Anniversary Marks Observance Of Mother's Day

The annual Mother's day celebration shared by 100 or more members of the Reformed Presbyterian church as guests of the Greer Bible class held special significance this year, for it marked the 25th wedding anniversary of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Greer. Both are teachers in the Sunday school, and the latter is superintendent of the Bible school.

The Rev. Mr. Greer has the honor of being the first pastor of the church, of which the Rev. Samuel Edgar now is the minister. He and Miss Effie Torrens were married May 1, 1907. The bride and bridegroom of 25 years ago recalled that of the 100 or more guests present at the ceremony, only five were in attendance at the celebration of the silver anniversary.

The social room of the church, where the affair was held, was decorated with roses and ferns for the celebration. At the gayly decked table were corsage bouquets of Cecil Brunner roses and maidenhair fern for all the mothers present. A decorated cake was presented to Mrs. Hackett, 84 years of age the oldest mother present.

The Rev. Mr. Edgar presided over the program, which included a Mother's day song by a quartet from the Freer class. Mrs. John Curry gave the welcome, and Mrs. Ada Thompson responded. Two Hawaiian guitar numbers were given by Ned Hatch, after which Dale Curry played a piano solo, "Slumber Song."

While Mendelssohn's Wedding March was being played by Marie Stewart, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Greer entered arrayed in their wedding attire of 25 years ago. This had been supplied for the occasion by their daughter, Miss Helen Greer.

Low Rev. David Calderwood of Los Angeles, gave the address of the evening, complimenting the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Greer and all of the mothers present. An original poem, dedicated to the bride pair, was read by Mrs. Mary Starrett of Fullerton. Marie Stewart sang "I Love You Truly," and the young men and women of the Greer's class sang "Down by the Old Mill Stream" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

As a tribute from the congregation and friends a beautiful set of silver was presented to the Greers by Mrs. Edgar. A handsome bride's cake was cut by Mrs. Greer, and served with ice cream and coffee. The evening was brought to a close with a Psalm and prayer by the Rev. A. M. Thompson, of Hemet.

Announcement Made of Quiet September Wedding

Announcement of a wedding of interest here was made today by Mr. and Mrs. John Le Bard of Irvine, in revealing the news of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Grace Le Bard, to Paul David Chaney of Laguna Beach and Texas, September 25, 1931.

News of the quiet wedding was kept a secret until the young people were ready to establish their home in Laguna Beach. Since the ceremony, the bride has been making her home with her parents, and Mr. Chaney has been in Texas with his father, Edward Chaney of Amarilla. The bridegroom arrived here last Wednesday, and the young people are soon to take up their residence at Laguna Beach.

Family Party In honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Le Bard entertained on Mother's day in their Irvine home. A tempting dinner was served early in the afternoon. Those taking part other than the new Mr. and Mrs. Chaney, were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Le Bard and son, Arthur, of Irvine; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ludy and daughter, Jean, of La Habra; Aubrey Le Bard and Roy Le Bard and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Le Bard and son, Harlo, of Santa Ana, together with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. John Le Bard.

Mrs. Chaney is a graduate of Tustin union high school, and later attended Business Institute.

Woman's Forum

A program appropriate in theme to the music week which commemorated the Women's Forum at a meeting of that organization in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday noon.

American music and its significant composers, the interesting history of the pipe organ, and other related topics all found a place on the program, which provided one of the more stimulating presented in recent months by this group.

Introduced by Mrs. J. G. Allen, toastmistress, Miss Hester Reuter launched the music talks with a discussion of the pipe organ, her discourse being followed by a description of "The Rise of American Music," in which Mrs. J. C. Hamill traced native music from colonial times to the present day, and commented upon the part played by American jazz in the music of Europe.

"The Life of George Gershwin" was the topic assigned Mrs. Lutha Ray, whose paper was extended to embrace some of Gershwin's more notable work, and the program reached an end with a brief impromptu talk by Mrs. Ray sum in Pasadena.

WILL GIVE INSIDE DOPE ON HOLLYWOOD

Did you ever stop to wonder what it means when a newspaper report says that a motion picture star is "under the care of his physician"? Sure, you have! Tonight at 8:15 A. P. Pington will explain that phrase in his "At the Hollywood Keyhole" broadcast.

Among the items for discussion tonight will be high salaries and the depression; what the censors have to say about certain things and where is Ben Turpin today?

Memories of tunes that were popular yesterday will be revived at 7:30 tonight when the Jacques Joubertville String orchestra plays over radio KREG. This program will be by electrical transcription and will present a group of melodies that swept the country like wildfire in their day.

Included in the numbers to be presented are: "Vagabond Lover," "Love," and "My Fate Is In Your Hands." Programs by this organization are listed among the most popular broadcast over the local station and have a group of enthusiastic listeners among the music lovers of the country.

She will join the Revelers quartet and the orchestra in selections from the operetta, "Maytime," by Sigmund Romberg. The Revelers will contribute "Oh, Lucindy" and "One Hour With You." Orchestral numbers include "Goodbye, Little Captain of My Heart."

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

A Test for Boiled Icing

Some time ago a letter was published in this column from a reader whose boiled icing troubled by drying out too soon, cracking off when used.

Today, I am delighted to publish a remedy from another Mixing Bowl reader.

"Here's a baker's secret for your correspondent whose boiled icing dries out. If, to the beaten whites of her eggs she will add, for each egg, one heaping teaspoon of granulated sugar and beat that in, and then, when the syrup has boiled FIVE minutes, add one dessert spoonful of the boiling syrup (to the beaten egg white mixture) and beat that in, then finish the beating as usual, she will have an icing that will glaze over the top and remain creamy underneath."

—Contributed by F. H. J.

For this icing the syrup must boil until it spins a thread when dropped from spoon tip. That is one test that will be infallible until the crack of doom.

TODAY'S RECIPE Cream Slaw

1 small head white cabbage

1 egg, well beaten

3 tablespoons sugar

1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Dash of cayenne

1 scant teaspoon salt

1/2 cup sour cream

1/4 cup vinegar

1/2 cup hot water

2 tablespoons butter

Shred the cabbage into a large salad bowl, serving it from the same bowl at table.

Put the vinegar, water and butter into a double boiler and bring to the boiling point.

To the egg add the dry mustard, sugar, salt, cayenne and sour cream. Whip until well foamed and stir slowly into the hot vinegar mixture. Whip briskly as it thickens but watch that it doesn't cook the egg to the curdling point. Take off the fire, whip to a foam with the egg beater, then pour over the cabbage.

... SERVE CHEESE STRAWS WITH SALAD

Make a small amount of plain pie paste. Roll thin, sprinkle with grated cheese, dust with salt and cayenne. Fold over three times, press edges together and roll out again. Sprinkle with cheese, fold, and roll out again. Cut in strips and bake in a hot oven.

The cream slaw will serve six or eight, and the calory total is approximately 1000. Of this total 900 belongs to the energy and fat makers.

"MOUTHPIECE" OPENS TODAY AT WEST COAST

When "The Mouthpiece," a Warner Bros. picture, comes to the Fox West Coast Theater today, it will bring to the screen a cast of special players, noted for their expert portrayals of various types and characters.

Heading the cast is Warren William, who, however, does not confine himself to "type" playing. William's versatility permits him to invest each character he plays with all the actuality of life, whether the role calls for a swash-buckling romantic, a heart-smashing Don Juan, a master of finance, or a brilliant legalist of the type he portrays in "The Mouthpiece," which gets its title from those lawyers representing characters of evil repute in their conflicts with the law.

Sidney Fox, in the chief feminine role opposite William, is a specialist in the portrayal of Southern girls, having acquired an authentic accent in spite of her northern origin. She is best remembered for her part in "Strictly Dishonorable." Allyn MacMahon, also an important feminine cast member, specializes in portraying cynical secretaries, having the same type of role she played in "Five Star Final" with Edward G. Robinson.

Each of the other players is a specialist in one type or character or another and is given full play for his or her talents in "The Mouthpiece."

MANY ANIMALS SEEN IN 'TARZAN' FILM

No little of the interest in "Tarzan, the Ape Man," film version of the widely-read Edgar Rice Burroughs adventure story, closing today at the Fox Broadway theater, lies in its unusual aggregation of wild animals.

Among the many rare African specimens to be seen in this picture are the brindie gnu, the axi deer, the James buck, the sable antelope, spotted hyenas, zebras, baboons, gorillas, hundreds of monkeys, elephants, hippopotami and a dozen man-eating lions and leopards. Some of the most unusual animal thrills ever photographed were obtained, including a terrific charge of elephants through a pygmy village, destroying everything in their path.

Johnny Weissmuller, world's champion swimmer, was given the title role of Tarzan because of his remarkable physique. The cast includes Neil Hamilton, Maureen O'Sullivan, C. Aubrey Smith, Doris

Prohibition Workers Organize To Combat Wets

COUNTY GROUP HEARS LEADERS IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, May 11.—The county group of prohibition workers met in this fight till judgment day, was the militant statement made by Mrs. Norma O. Dodge, president of the Riverside County W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon in explaining some of the problems in the fight to uphold the 18th amendment before a large group of W. C. T. U. women from Anaheim, Brea, Buena Park, La Habra and Fullerton.

Mrs. Dodge stated that the youth of today holds the key to the future success of the W. C. T. U. and that they would determine the outcome of the fight. She said that much of the danger comes from those in high position who are W. C. T. U. with every right to trust.

The wets state that they must have wine and beer in order to put the farmer back on his feet again, but the farmer organizations want retention of the 18th amendment, she declared. She commented on the statement made by the wets that they did not want the saloon back and then asked the question, "Where is it to be sold? It must be sold some place." She said that Southern California had built up its membership in the W. C. T. U. until there are now 24,000 and that it is now fourth in size in the United States. Eight hundred fifty new unions have been formed in the past 10 months with women joining the organization at the rate of 1000 a week.

Another talk was given by Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, of Orange, national director of scientific temperance instruction. She said in her talk that "The world is not so wide today as it was in our youth. In the old days, liquor from America filled the holds of the ships carrying missionaries to foreign nations. Delegates from abroad at the convention at Toronto last year challenged us to hold the line for prohibition, saying that if we went backward it would put our country back 50 years."

A. H. Briggs, state president of the Anti-Saloon league, said in part at the noon luncheon in which he commented on the favorable change that has taken place since the advent of prohibition: "The Barbary Coast in San Francisco was a solid block of Hell. Now it is deserted; the iniquity has been swept away and it is quiet and dead."

Mrs. Garretson, librarian at La Habra, displayed a number of whiskey bottles with the prohibition label on it. "Liquor kills more people than war and all dishonorably!"

At the luncheon served by the Baptist women, the Rev. George E. Tinsley, pastor of the Fullerton Christian church, and the Rev. Dudley Snudden, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, spoke briefly.

The afternoon and morning sessions were jointly under the direction of Mrs. Cora Hale, of Fullerton, county president of the W. C. T. U., and Mrs. Ursula Zinke, president of the Fullerton W. C. T. U.

Inspector Says New Jail Needed At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, May 11.—Laguna Beach needs a new jail, Clara Mehling Pettus, inspector of jails in the state department of social welfare at Sacramento, informed Chief of Police Abe W. Johnson yesterday. The inspector failed to give her reasons and Chief Johnson is anxious to know what her report will be.

The city tank formerly was used by the Santa Ana police department and has held some noted Orange county criminals. It is built of steel and has three cells. When first brought to Laguna Beach about 10 years ago, it stood like a cage on First street near Park avenue and the prisoners, if any, were in plain site of the curious gaze.

"We may need a new one," commented Chief Johnson, "but several hundred homeless men were happy to use it the past winter."

Friend Releases Woman Prisoner From City Jail

SAN CLEMENTE, May 11.—Officer Earl Coleman went to the Spanish village jail house yesterday morning to take Mrs. L. B. Hanson, 781 Pennsylvania, San Diego, to breakfast and later to visit Judge S. Warner. But when Coleman reached the jail house Mrs. Hanson was gone. Someone during the night had pried off the lock to her cell and the prisoner had left for parts unknown. It was the first jail break in San Clemente's history.

Chief of Police Harry Comber had arrested Mrs. L. B. Hanson and she was charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, driving without an operator's card, and doing 70 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone. The car in which she was driving with a man registered to L. J. Smith, 850 West Sixty-sixth street, Los Angeles. The man was not arrested.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR CLUB IN BREA

BREA, May 11.—Members of the art section of the Brea Woman's club were hostesses to the club and guests Tuesday at an 11 o'clock breakfast in the garden of the W. D. Shaffer home on Imperial highway.

Following the breakfast, the regular meeting of the club was held in the garden, presided over by Mrs. Frances Davis, president. The guest of the day was Mrs. E. E. Smith, Anaheim, county president.

The nominating committee, consisting of Mesdames O. S. Close, chairman, Stella Keene, R. W. Spensley, C. H. Woodruff and L. E. Woods, reported the following officers nominated for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. William Fanning; first vice president, C. O. Harvey; second vice president, Mrs. Frank Wharton; recording secretary, Mrs. J. J. Holland; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Stella Keene; treasurer, Mrs. R. M. Ross; parliamentarian, Mrs. Frances Davis; curator, Mrs. H. Legro; historian, Mrs. R. W. Spensley; federation secretary, Mrs. Frances Davis. All were elected by unanimous vote.

At the executive board meeting of the club it was decided to present the baby clinic with $10.

Report on the beautification work of the city was made by Mrs. C. H. Woodruff, civic chairman of the club. At this time the Brea club song was rendered by a group from the music committee and announcements were made of the installation of officers at the next meeting and a union meeting of the Woman's guild of the Brea Congregational church.

The members of the art section who entertained at breakfast were Mesdames Marcella Crookshank, W. D. Shaffer, Maud Sayles, Luella Brown, Jean Hogue, Mary Fleishar, Myrtle Clayton, Lillian Gulest, Jessie Cox, Stella Fanning and Nettie Neyley.

SEAL BEACH WOMEN TAKE UP EXERCISES

SEAL BEACH, May 1.—Women of Seal Beach, both young and old, have gone "athletic." On Monday evening a group of women go to Huntington Beach to the high school to attend the exercise and swimming classes that are conducted by the physical education teachers of the school. Tuesday evenings the city hall here is the meeting place for a large exercise class. This is conducted by Mrs. E. W. Reed.

Evening basketball is played in the Community church auditorium. Any woman who is interested is welcome at these group meetings.

Among those in the Monday evening group are Mrs. E. W. Reed, Mrs. Kinkade, Mrs. Jim Prentice, Norma Crandall, Dorothy Snyder, Lucille Wooding, Shasta Winterstein and Helen Wooding.

Banquet Held By Mothers And Sons

FULLERTON, May 11.—The annual mother and son banquet of the Fullerton Hi-Y club was held Monday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church, with each member of the club bringing his mother as his guest.

The invocation was given by Merritt Bush, Russell Chambers, vice president of the club, was master of ceremonies and a word of welcome to the mothers was given by President Ed Thompson.

Following a program of entertainment an address was given by the Rev. E. D. Snudden, pastor of the Methodist church, after which Odell Whitfield, Edward Brigham, Gilbert May and Mike Hardy were made members of the club.

SAUERS NAMED CHAIRMAN FOR TUSTIN GROUP

TUSTIN, May 11.—John Sauers was elected to serve as temporary chairman of the local strategy committee which was organized at a meeting of friends of prohibition of this community at 7:30 o'clock last night in the Presbyterian church. A. F. Hibbet was chosen to act as temporary vice chairman and Mrs. William A. Hazen as temporary secretary.

An executive committee, to be known as the prohibition board of strategy, was elected and included the following Tustin citizens: Mrs. Helen Finley, the Rev. J. Stuart Hydanus, the Rev. Howard Nason, the Rev. Lawson Watkins, J. R. Harbour, Mrs. Mollie Smith, B. F. Bewick, Frank Grisset, Mrs. Sarah M. G. Brown, Mrs. Margaret Utt, Mrs. Guy H. Christian, Mrs. Fred Wilson, Mrs. Enid Wilson and Dale Winterbourne. Harry Lewis presided as chairman for the evening.

The rally opened with prayer by the Rev. Howard F. Nason, pastor of the Tustin Advent Christian church, following which Mr. Lewis told of the necessity of hard work on the part of drys in order to defeat the initiative measure to repeal the Wright act in the November election. He stressed the need of electing dry officials since this year we elect a president, a senator, 20 representatives and a state legislature.

Mrs. Margaret Utt, vice president of the Tustin W. C. T. U., told of the work being done by the national strategy committee and said they are trying to secure a dry plank in the platform at the coming national convention in Chicago. This committee will let the dry forces know which dry candidates it believes are strongest and have the best chance of election.

Mrs. Utt also outlined plans for local work by the committee organized last evening, stating that it should find out if all dry citizens are registered and that they be sure to vote. She also discussed the value of dry advertising by means of the radio, literature, posters and the newspapers, and told of the dry forces' appreciation of the Santa Ana Register for its assistance in the cause.

Showers were outlined to send letters to the delegates who are to be held on the national convention urging them to put a dry plank in the platform. The Rev. Hydanus made an inspirational talk and stressed the need of flooding the country with dry propaganda.

COUNTY DAIRYMEN ATTEND MEETING

New problems facing the co-operative marketing organization formed by dairymen of Orange, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties were discussed at a meeting in Los Angeles yesterday.

Dairymen of the counties involved were represented by committees of three men each in addition to representatives of the farm bureaus. Orange county dairymen were represented by R. R. Hazard, Midway City; H. L. Wakeham, Tustin; J. J. Denny, Cypress; R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Orange County Farm Bureau, and W. L. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

Dairymen of the four counties have been working for the past two years, according to Flaherty, in an effort to save the dairy industry from failure through price wars and other disturbances. Formation of the co-operative marketing organization took place to combat adverse forces.

At present membership in the organization totals 70 per cent of the dairymen in the area. To make the organization effective it is estimated that membership should total 85 per cent. Plans for increasing this membership will probably be discussed at the conference today.

Burn Grass In Spanish Village

SAN CLEMENTE, May 11.—Smoke clouds hung low over San Clemente all day Monday. It was burn grass on vacant lot day and many civic conscious citizens led by Mayor Thomas E. Murphy started early in the morning to relieve the Spanish village from a grass fire menace this summer. By night much of the grass on vacant lots was burned. It is now planned to hold a burn up day on the next three Mondays. New fire lines on the hills will be built also.

Fire Chief Jimmy Bennett had active charge of the work. Assistant Fire Chief Jim Hopkin had the fire engine in readiness following the men from lot to lot. Three of the city crew were on the task, Jack Donovan, Tom Guderian and C. W. Wells.

WAR BETWEEN RUSSIA AND JAPAN PREDICTED IN TALK BEFORE FULLERTON COUNCIL

FULLERTON, May 11.—The chances are good that the world will see another war this summer between Japan and Russia and the cause of this war will be economic difficulties, was the statement made by Dr. Harold A. Steiner, member of the political science department of the University of California at Los Angeles, who addressed members of the Fullerton International Relations council last night at McFarland's cafe on the subject, "The Economic Problems of Peace."

He stated that the wars in the past, particularly the World war, was caused by economic problems in which each nation showed the type of nationalism that displayed the acquisitive tendency. In fact, he said, the World war was almost directly traceable to an argument on pigs. A tariff barrier had been placed by Austria-Hungary against the importation of pigs which affected Serbia. This law, which became effective in 1905, had engendered ill will between the two nations that eventually led to the assassination of the arch duke, he said.

It was Dr. Steiner's belief that the one great hope of the nations of the present era to prevent future wars in the League of Nations. He said that the real success of the league was as an administrative agency in which it could deal with the economic problems of the different nations. He commented on the unsatisfactory economic condition now existing in Europe by which many nations not having a sea coast were compelled to pay double duties on goods imported. He said that France today was the cause of much of the economic difficulties in Europe at the present time. He said that France today has everything that she wants. That nation possesses a big army, and has control of the gold at the present time.

"France is sitting on the top of the pile at the present time," he said. "Once a nation acquires what it considers its share, it is prepared to fight to hold it. Many of the treaties and lack of treaties in Europe at the present are a result of the power of France. There will be no international friendship as long as this economic problem is present and the separate nations think only in terms of self defense and fear their neighbors."

PLAN BABY CLINIC

GARDEN GROVE, May 11.—Dr. E. L. Russell, of the county health department, will be in charge of a baby clinic open to children up to six years of age to be held in the Washington school May 13, at 2 o'clock, according to announcement made by Mrs. William Dales, president of the grammar school P. T. A.

Mrs. Dales also announces that

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR A. W. FERRIN, 76

GARDEN GROVE, May 11.—Funeral services for Augustine W. Ferrin, 76, whose death occurred at the family home in Garden Grove May 7, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Methodist Episcopal church, with the Hilgenfeldt mortuary of Anaheim in charge. The Rev. Floyd J. Seaman, pastor of the church, officiated. Burial was made in Loma Vista cemetery.

A trio composed of Mrs. S. W. Holt, Mrs. Ralph Chaffee and Irvine German sang "Saved by Grace" and "Shall We Gather at the River." John Pearson played the accompaniment on the organ. Mr. Ferrin was a native of New Hampshire and was a resident of New Mexico before coming to Garden Grove over three years ago. He is survived by his wife, Carrie H. Ferrin, three sons, Clifford R. of Roseville, N. M.; Clayton H. and Alvin M., both of Garden Grove; two daughters, Miss Marjorie Ferrin, of Garden Grove and Mrs. Glenn McCoy, of Carlsbad, N. M.; two sisters, Mrs. R. W. Shore and Mrs. H. W. Shore both of Worthington, Minn.; one brother, Oscar M. Ferrin, of Atlantic, Pa., and three grandchildren. He was a member of the Garden Grove Methodist Episcopal church.

There will not be a meeting of the P. T. A. this month, the final meeting of the year to be held June 2.

Free Husband As Wife Refuses To Press Complaint

LAGUNA BEACH, May 11.—After a jury had been called twice to hear the case, but had not been sworn in, Mrs. Earl W. Grundy, pretty young confectionery clerk, withdrew a complaint against her husband, which she had signed charging assault and disturbing the peace, and he was released from custody by City Judge C. C. Gravath in police court yesterday.

Mrs. Grundy caused the arrest of her husband last week and he spent several days in jail. When he was arraigned he pleaded not guilty through his attorney, Leslie F. Kimmell, and demanded a jury trial. A panel of prominent citizens was called last Friday to hear the case, but it had to be postponed because City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey had a case in court in Santa Ana. The jury appeared again yesterday and there was a delay of half an hour when the complaining witness failed to appear. Judge Gravath sent Police Chief Abe W. Johnson to get her. Standing before the court, Mrs. Grundy announced that she wished to withdraw the complaint.

Attorney Talks At Club Meeting

COSTA MESA, May 11.—Franklin G. West, Santa Ana attorney, was the speaker at the Tuesday noon Lions luncheon. Leroy Anderson was program chairman. Interesting descriptions of unusual court cases were cited by the speaker.

Secretary W. W. Middleton urged Lions to register for the convention. Fenton Chaplin will be in charge of the May 17 program. Visitors included Gilmore Ward, Santa Ana, and Mrs. L. Anderson, Costa Mesa.

WOMAN'S CLUB INSTALLATION HELD JUNE 3

GARDEN GROVE, May 11.—Installation of new officers of the Garden Grove Woman's Civic club has been set for June 3, with a luncheon at noon. It was announced today. Those to be inducted are as follows:

Mrs. W. O. Broady and Mrs. C. L. Pearson, first vice presidents; Mrs. W. M. Adland, second vice president; Mrs. Howard Barnes, recording secretary; Mrs. George W. Lewis, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arthur J. Woodworth, treasurer; Mrs. S. S. Jackson, curator, and Mrs. Charles R. George, federation secretary.

Miss Mary Thompson and Mrs. A. C. Robbins are new members of the board of directors to serve with Mrs. W. H. Stenett, Mrs. A. F. Kearns, Mrs. J. Farnsworth and Mrs. Edward Chaffee.

Mrs. C. L. Pearson has been appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for a demonstration dinner to be given May 16 at the clubhouse. Members of her committee are Mrs. Howard Barnes, Mrs. George W. Lewis, Mrs. Carl Nichols, Mrs. W. A. Wheeler and Edward Maier. Card playing which will follow the dinner, will be in charge of Mrs. A. C. Robbins and Mrs. A. J. Woodworth.

CO-OPERATE WITH PEACE OFFICERS

A few days ago it became necessary for one of our police officers, Arthur L. Steward, to wound a man in the course of duty. The officer showed courage, alertness and judgment. He should be commended.

We often do not appreciate our peace officers. The men upon whom rest the obligation of protecting our lives, and our institutions, must do so frequently at the open risk of their own.

While there are those who are violating law who are not criminally-minded, and who may be driven to their deeds by certain exigencies, yet during the past decade there have developed a leadership and a criminally-minded group which has no respect for law or the officials, or any regard for the sacredness of human life.

The wantonness with which these men shoot down an officer in discharge of his duty, the freedom and the nonchalance with which they maim and kill their victims, emphasize the dangers which are constantly potential in the life of our peace officers. The community, we feel at times, does not appreciate this.

We note the officer in his uniform, attractive and courteous, and we almost envy him, but in a few moments he may be called upon to place his body in between us and danger, in the discharge of his own duty, and his home may be without a head, the wife without a husband, and the children without a father.

Those of us who respect law and the institutions of our country, should help these officials in every way possible, even at times when we are the ones whom they detain. We are passing the required speed limit, we are violating these rules which for the safety of others must be observed—let us realize then again that these men are doing that for us as well as for others, and they deserve throughout our sympathy and our help.

Whether they are the policemen on the beat, the traffic men on the highway, the constables or the "sheriffs," let us constantly bear in mind that they are the representatives of the patriotic expression of the American spirit—"liberty and law."

France is changing its laws to make divorce harder. The thing that makes divorce so hard in the United States is alimony.

SIGNS OF FINAL LIQUIDATION

To the question so often asked, how near are we to the end of the depression, perhaps a tentative answer may be given in the decrease of what are called brokers' loans. Brokers' loans are for the most part loans made to purchasers who buy stocks on margins. A certain number of shares of stock are bought, a limited down payment is made, and the rest is carried by the broker, who holds the stock until it is paid for in full or resold for the purchaser.

In September, 1929, brokers' loans had run up to the huge total of $8,549,383,979. Following the crash of October of that year, the figures dropped to $3,989,810,273 in December of that year. Since that time the figures have been dropping at an accelerating pace, until on May 1 they stood at $379,016,662, the lowest on record. The drop the last month was $154,686,397, which set a new percentage of record, and indicates the reason for the drop in stock prices during the month of April. During that month the decline of values on the New York stock exchange amounted to more than two and a half billion dollars.

This is evidence that we have nearly reached the end of the liquidating process, and that we are beginning to strike bottom. There is less forced selling of stocks, and when the stocks have passed from weak to strong hands, it is more than likely that the market will take an upward trend. No one familiar with industry can doubt for a moment that the intrinsic value of many of the best stocks is much greater than the price at which they are selling. Stocks have been forced down because of the necessity for selling and the limited demand. The difference in the figures of brokers' loans at the height of the boom and the present prices represents only a small part of the loss in the value of stocks sustained by those who bought in a high market and were forced to sell in a low market.

It has been a terrible crash. Millions who indulged in speculation have suffered terrible punishment. The significance and consoling factor in this drop of brokers' loans is the belief commonly held that we may be near the bottom of the depression.

EX-MAYOR KNOX AND MAYOR WITMER

We have no doubt that many regretted the resignation of Mayor John Knox from membership on the city council, and as mayor of the city. His friends appreciate the reasons for such resignation, and they also appreciate the character of work that Mr. Knox has performed on the Board of Trustees of the city, and as our Mayor.

Mr. Knox is one of the best known citizens of Santa Ana, having been in business here many years. He is a man who is big-hearted and friendly, whose nature harbors no resentment, whose honesty is unquestioned, whose frankness and open spirit appeal to all. He has done fine work. The people have found him a man whom they can trust.

On the other hand, we do not believe that the work of the city will suffer in the hands of our new mayor, Paul Witmer. Mr. Witmer, while not so well known at the time of his selection to the city council, has grown in public favor since that time as few men have grown, as far as our observation has gone.

Mr. Witmer has proven himself a fine public servant, careful and considerate in a business way, of plans and programs for city business. He has been resolving every doubt in respect to expenditure in favor of the taxpayer.

In this time of stress, realizing that Mayor Knox has been faithful to the interests of the city and economy, we can unreservedly say that the city will not lack in that respect in the personality of the new chairman. We can look forward with confidence that the taxpayers' interests will be conserved to the highest degree.

Now they're building houses out of steel. If they'll just make the windows of bullet-proof glass, they ought to do a rushing business in Chicago.

POLITICAL PARTIES IN FRANCE

No fewer than 12 political parties engaged in the French elections held last week. They shade all the way down from the ultra-conservatives represented by the remnants of the Bourbon royal rule, which won three seats in the House of Deputies, to the Communists which gained by one seat. There were three shades of republicans, five shades of socialists, and two shades of radical democrats. The radical socialists gained the greatest number of seats, 63; while the ordinary garden variety of socialists gained 40 seats. The Republican Democratic union gained 44 seats.

It was a decidedly left-handed victory, and the conservative Tardieu ministry will retire in favor of a ministry more favorable to international conciliation. This is one of the hopeful signs. With a conciliatory government in Germany, which, we must confess, received a good deal of a setback by the Hitler gains in the Prussian elections, there is some hope that the present stalled conditions in Europe, and especially in the Disarmament conference, may give way to more favorable action looking toward a better understanding among the nations on the matter of disarmament.

The existence of so many parties in all European countries may give us an idea how difficult it is to come to conclusions on all political questions. Everything must be compromised if a majority is to be obtained in favor of any governmental policy, domestic or foreign. It is an evidence of the growing pains of democracy. At any rate, it represents independent thinking rather than servile acquiescence to dictatorship or political stupidity.

Malnutrition Danger in Community Charity Rations

The Riverside Enterprise these days in the matter of food rations. Syracuse, N. Y., prides itself on a model diet which costs only 9 cents a day per person. The list of items for a week's meal contains bread, potatoes, nearly two pounds of beef, pork and lard, butter substitutes, evaporated milk, coffee, cocoa, salmon and nearly a dozen cereals, vegetables and fruits. Housewives whose families are not on the charity lists, but whose incomes are inadequate to their needs, scan the list eagerly for help in solving their problems. They find that the prices for the 9-cent rations are based on wholesale buying. There are few housewives, however, who buy 100 tons of butter at a time, or 1000 cans of salmon. Unless all the hardup families can get together and do their purchasing co-operatively, the 9-cent daily food budget must remain a vain dream. And if they do that, what will happen to grocery stores?

The community fund food director in Tulsa, Okla., says that indigent residents in that city are "thriving" on rations averaging in cost less than 64 cents a day. There, too, the food is bought in quantity and distributed through a community fund agency.

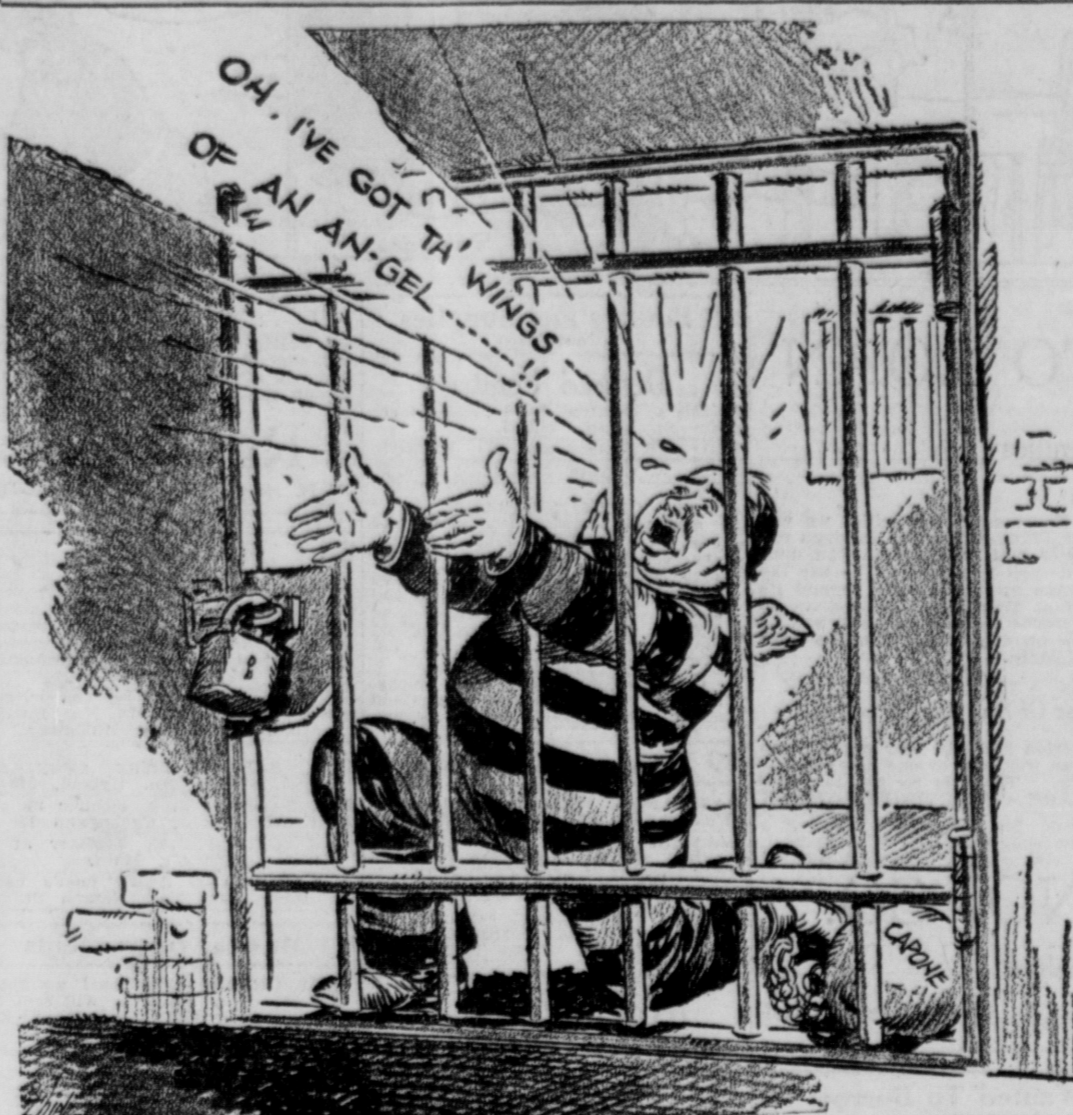

At best, however, most of the depression menus, while they are life-sustaining, are not health-building. They omit fresh milk, real butter and eggs, which are now considered essential to a child's normal growth. Obviously the cities are learning how to buy charity supplies economically, but are they solving their malnutrition and starvation problems?

Some Advertisers

The San Diego Union—Advertising in the national magazines and the daily newspapers of today, is beginning to incultate a real respect for certain of the nation's great industries. The automotive industry, for example, is leading a concerted campaign for better times—better times, more and bigger sales, more profits for the industry itself, it is true, but eventually better times for all of us. At a time when sales returns are undoubtedly smaller than at any other time in the industry's experience, the industry is spending money. It gets value for every dollar spent in advertising, but it is also rendering a public service for which its own returns can be only indirect. It is presenting this republic with the picture of an industry that is not walling, not quitting, not waiting for somebody else to start the ball rolling.

When better times come, the public will remember some few examples of business courage displayed when times were bad.

The Prisoner's Song

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

MAKING THE BEST OF IT

For years I felt depressed and sad
And troubled and dejected;
No hope of happiness I had,
No pleasures I expected.
While many people from their birth
Were bright and gay and jolly,
In life I found no joy or mirth,
But only melancholy.

I fancied I was born that way
And had no hope hereafter
To be jocular and light and gay
And filled with lighthearted laughter.
And then, when deep was my distress
And heavy my disquiet,
I heard somewhere that happiness
Depends alone on diet.

Abandoning forthwith my old
And gloomy dietary,
I ate the foods that I was told
Would make me bright and merry.
Yet not a single bit of good
Did these things ever do me;
Though I devoured all I could
I still was low and gloomy.

My life, alas, is nearly spent
And pleasures still evade me,
And I, perforce, must be content
To stay as Nature made me.
Yet happiness will often cloy;
Gay flowers perish early;
And I get quite a little joy
From being glum and surly.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

DICKERING WITH WAR DEBTS

Maybe it was just another Coolidge story!

It has been said, however, that, after listening to a long dissertation on the possibility of a cancellation of war debts, Mr. Coolidge said to his caller, "They hired the money, didn't they?"

That succinct comment was chuckled over and hailed by millions of Americans as a superb example of a Yankee sense of realities.

Was it?

Is it true that every dollar of war debts owed to the United States would, if cancelled, have to be paid out of the pockets of the American taxpayers?

Maybe—in a technical bookkeeper's sense.

In the realistic sense of the effect on the economy, well-being of the American taxpayer—NO!

I say this with confidence because the uncertainty, the fear, the despair, and the world-wide economic dislocation that have resulted from these war debts that absurd tariff policies have prevented from being paid in goods have caused the American taxpayers to lose far more through collapsing capital values, shrinking business, and an epidemic of unemployment than the American taxpayers could possibly have realized from the full payment of all war debts.

I do not want to over-simplify a situation that is admittedly complex, but it becomes increasingly clear that, with certain exceptions that obvious justice would dictate, the world at large would gain, in cold cash, by the complete wiping out of these stale obligations that to-day chill and chain the economic enterprise of the nations.

Promptness of economic recovery is more important than the payment of reparations and inter-governmental debts.

It is regrettable that we have to be wise at so late a date.

Statesmanship might have saved the world much if it had gone through, if greater wisdom had been used in this matter ten years ago.

But even at this late date, much might be done to legitimately blackmail the nations of the world into an intelligent reduction of armaments, that would in itself save the world a vast wastage, in return for an all-around wiping out of these obligations.

HEALTHY POSSESSIVENESS

"I am troubled about my little son's possessive attitude. He loves to own things. When he gets a new top he grasps it with clutching hands and his whole face lights up. 'Mine,' he says. 'Mine,' and laughs all over. What do you think about it? Should I make him share his things if he does not want to? Will he be selfish if I don't?"

I think a sense of possession is a healthy sign in a child. There is nothing that makes a person feel so good as the knowledge that he owns something. There are few of us who can acquire the love of poverty that sends us out with the beggar's bowl and staff. Poverty makes most of us feel hopeless and helpless. It robs us of all power. It is a poisonous idea. Self respect rises, power rises, at the thought of actual possession.

A little child is neither selfish nor unselfish. He is just a child, a bundle of wants and appetites. If we help him to feed his hunger we help him to overcome desires in healthy fashion. I would not try to make a child unselfish by forcing him to share his possessions with others. I know that if I do that I arouse the child's hunger for possession in threefold power. I direct him toward his hungry unsatisfied self by making him feel a loss of possession and power. Whenever possible I would let a child satisfy his hunger for ownership. Once that is accomplished there is a better chance to indicate to him the need of another to satisfy his hunger.

When you give a three year old child a new ball and he grabs it greedily, why worry about it? Let him enjoy his sense of possession to the full. "Is it mine?" "Yes, I gave it to you." "For keeps?" "Yes. Of course." He chuckles with glee. Let him. By and by you have something he likes. Maybe it is a bright box that he covets. He asks for it and you say, "I like that box myself but I'll be glad to let you play with it. Surely you can put your beads in it. Let me use your little bag to put my spoons in, will you?"

He will trot right off and bring the bag. He will share if you show him how. Example is the strongest force for this sort of teaching. If you live a life of open handedness, and open mindedness, your children are likely to do as you do. But be content with living. Don't try to push your idea by talking about it to an infant whose physical needs, whose material hungers, are the strongest phase of his being. The less said about such things the better.

Along this line let us consider saving money. Little children, those under seven and thereabouts do not understand about saving. They are spenders. Help them along that direction. Set their allowance for spending only. When they are older and begin using more expensive toys, wanting more expensive diversions, it is time enough to increase the allowance and teach about saving for the need of next week. A nine year old cannot vision a need much farther ahead than that.

Unselfishness, the selflessness that leads to devoted service is an adult conception. It comes late and usually after the sense of possession has been satisfied. Unselfishness is born after long training. It cannot be forced but it can be stimulated by example.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

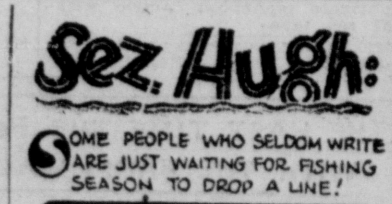

HUSHES PROPAGANDA

On May 11, 1918, George Leygues, French minister of marines, made a statement in the Chamber of Deputies which denied Germany's claim of tremendous losses to allied shipping.

Leygues declared that the total allied tonnage sunk by German submarines in the preceding five months was 1,548,682, and not the amount claimed by Germany, which was released as more than 8,000,000 tons.

He said further that the number of submarines sunk by the allies was greater than Germany's output.

Italy, expecting a concerted movement from the Austrians along her front, decided on a push of her own, and penetrated advanced Austrian positions on Monte Carlo.
